Grim Picture for Area Road Construction

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON

State Senator Jay P. Rolison Jr. and Assemblyman H. Clark Bell painted a grim picture today which showed new road construction in Ulster County coming to a virtual standstill in the wake of the defeat of the $2.5 billion Transportation Bond Issue on Tuesday.

"All new road improvements in Ulster County have been dealt a very damaging blow," Bell told The Freeman. "Route 209 (improvement) and the Rondout Bridge will be postponed indefinitely."

"Whether or not there will be any new construction remains to be seen," Rolison added. "And if there is it will be very limited."

Both Bell and Rolison voted for the bond issue with Bell hoping that it would pass in New York City, Nassau County and Erie County to offset the negative vote upstate.

"The people have spoken," Rolison said. "They don't want any further acceleration of debt spending. I interpret this to mean that road priorities are very, very low with the general public. I don't know what's going to happen to 209. I think it's imperative that it be done."

Bell, elaborating further on the possibility that the proposed Rondout Bridge and Kingston-Ulster Arterial might not be built, said, "postponement of the Rondout Bridge, of course, has further ramifications because of the credits attached to the city's urban renewal projects." The City gets non-cash credits toward its urban renewal debt because of the state road through the Broadway East Project. Without the road the city could owe the federal government in excess of $3 million.

Related stories on page 4.

Both men emphasized that the defeat of the bond issue will mean another $300 million on top of a state budget deficit that now approaches $500 million. "It's obvious that the people want further cuts in spending," Rolison said. "I don't disagree, but it will come in areas that hurt."

Bell was more specific. "The deficit could reach a billion dollars. Unemployment will increase as soon as road construction projects presently under construction come to a halt. We could face a reduction of state aid to localities and to schools."

"We simply do not have the money," Bell said. "The alternative is to raise taxes which will drive what business we have out of the state. This is probably the most precarious position the state has been in in many, many years."

Bell and Rolison had comments on the selling of the bond issue to the public by Gov. Rockefeller. "I felt the governor used bad judgement in trying to put $300 million into a budget predicated on acceptance by the people. It was like putting a gun to a man's head. It was a very bad policy decision. Jay and I were both against it when informed by the legislative leaders."

Rolison theorizes that the governor may ask the legislature for either spending cuts or higher taxes, when the legislature meets in special session in late December on reapportionment. He hastens to add that that is "purely speculation" on his part. "But, it would seem that we have no other alternatives."

Bell, also speculating, doesn't see any special legislation from Rockefeller at the special meeting of the legislature, at least he doesn't think it would be a good idea. "Anything is possible," he said, "but I think it would be bad policy if he tried to put in special taxes. Reapportionment will be difficult enough and ten days later we're into the general session of 1972."

The state, by law, must have a balanced budget at the end of its fiscal year, which ends on March 31, 1972.

Nuclear Foes In Last Ditch Court Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opponents of a giant underground nuclear explosion put final touches on a Supreme Court appeal today as last-minute preparations for the blast went ahead on Amchitka Island off the Alaska coast.

Environmental groups, turned down Wednesday by a U.S. Court of Appeals, said they still hoped to prove that the test scheduled for 5 p.m. EST Saturday is unsafe.

Meanwhile, to dramatize his faith in the safety of the test, Atomic Energy Commission Chairman James R. Schlesinger planned to fly to Alaska today to be present for the test of the Spartan antiballistic missile warhead.

Seven conservationist groups, headed by the Committee for Nuclear Responsibility, say the explosion is likely to set off earthquakes and tidal waves, spring radioactive waste into the air and kill fish and seals in the northern Pacific Ocean.

They say the government suppressed evidence about environmental dangers by keeping secret adverse reports and withholding government conclusions from a public statement required by law on potential hazards.

Among the evidence cited by the environmentalists was a secret report written by President Nixon's chief environmental advisor in December 1970, which said the Amchitka explosion could trigger a chain reaction of earthquakes all across the Pacific Ocean.

Russell E. Train, chairman of the President's Council on Environmental Quality, said in the report that tests smaller than the five-megaton explosion planned Saturday had set off quakes of less intensity than the blasts.

But he said there was no assurance that the Amchitka test—code-named Cannikin—would follow that pattern.

The Justice Department had sought unsuccessfully in two weeks of tangled court fights to keep the Train document and others secret.

Train declined personal comment on his report, but his lawyer on the council said the AEC's environmental-impact statement had considered all the possibilities Train listed.

Though turning aside the environmentalists' attempt to halt the blast, the appeals court opinion said, "In our view the case does present a substantial question as to the legality of the proposed test."

Complaining of the limited time available to study hundreds of pages of technical documents, the three judges said, "We are in no position to calculate the dangers from the Cannikin test."

They said their decision to allow the test to proceed was based primarily on national security and foreign-policy considerations.

Meanwhile in Ottawa, Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau said Wednesday the Canadian government planned no further protests against the U. S. Nuclear test on Amchitka Island.

He said he would not sign a petition opposing the blast and thought other members of Parliament should not sign it either.

Speaking to newsmen, Trudeau said the only thing the government could do was "protest to them, as we have, that we don't agree with the nuclear test in Amchitka and regret that they are proceeding with it."

County Announces Allocation of Funds

KINGSTON

Allocations of federal funds under the Section 6 supplementary grant of $228,000 to the City of Kingston, Town of Wawarsing and six other townships in southern Ulster were announced this week by County Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago, who represents the county as program agent.

The total Emergency Employment Act program under Phase II will amount to $253,667, which will include $25,367 local contribution in cash or in kind. The in kind contribution will include machinery, automotive equipment, tools and supervisory assistance. The City of Kingston has allocated its 10 per cent contribution in cash, according to County EEA Administrator Robert C. Randall. Chairman Savago announced that $102,735 was allocated to provide 17 jobs within the legally established boundaries of Kingston; $68,490 within the limits of the Town of Wawarsing, and the Towns of New Paltz, Gardiner, Lloyd, Shawangunk, Platekill and Marlboro will share $57,075. The federal funds will provide 11 jobs in Wawarsing and the six towns will share 10 jobs. The six southern townships are relinquishing their claim on the funds to allow the county to administer the monies. Unemployed from those townships will be hired in county positions. This will avoid the necessity of those towns filing special forms and keeping individual records for small amounts of money Randall advised.

County Legislature tentative budget to be revealed Nov. 10. Story on Page 3.

The 17 positions in the City of Kingston will be filled in various city departments and will include a maintenance man, janitor, housing code inspector, three clerks and 11 laborers in the Public Works Department.

The positions in the city were not filled due to the cutback in state aid. Three positions are being filled in the city treasurer's office to fill vacancies created by retirement and another will be filled in the assessor's office.

The 11 positions in the Town of Wawarsing will be hired for the extension of the environmental improvement program in that township.

Chairman Savago said the total federal program funding is for 1972. Copies of the full funding application may be examined at the County Temporary Manpower Council Office of Administrator Randall, Sixth Floor, County Office Building, Main and Fair Street, Kingston. Administrator Randall may be reached by telephone at the County Office Building during regular office hours.

The full funding application for supplemental funds will be filed Friday, Nov. 5 by Ulster County with the Regional Manpower Administrator, Region II, 341 Ninth Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10001.

Several Seek Leadership Posts

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

Although the makeup of the Ulster County Legislature changed little in Tuesday's election (the GOP picked up one seat), the complexion of the county board will certainly take on a new look in January and perhaps some new leadership in both the majority and minority parties.

No sooner had the ballots been counted election night, showing the loss of one Republican and one Democratic incumbent and a gain of seven new faces, when the political prognosticators began predicting who would assume the leadership roles under Chairman Peter J. Savago (R-Dist. 8) who is expected to be redesignated chairman.

Interest in the majority and minority leadership is sparked by two factors. Minority Leader Roger Mabie (D-Dist. 7) did not seek reelection and a successor to him must be named. Also there is reported possibility that Majority Leader Douglas V. Dye (R-Dist. 2) may be challenged for his post by Legislator Brian D. White (R-Dist. 9). Support has also been mentioned for Clifford Snyder (R-Dist. 1) who won Tuesday's election with a large plurality.

White, chairman of the Ulster County Community College Committee, showed leadership in his handling of the UCCC faculty salary dispute and Snyder is known for his efforts in behalf of the new county jail, as chairman of the Sheriff's Committee.

Dye has held his post as majority leader since the old Board of Supervisors was in existence. He is chairman of the Social Services Committee and has been working on behalf of the aged in the county.

Picking a successor to Mabie will not be an easy task. His City, a big vote getter and popularity on both sides of the former candidate

Freeman to Sponsor Dale Carnegie Course

KINGSTON

Richard L. Treat, publisher of The Daily Freeman announced today that this newspaper will again act as sponsor of the world-famous Dale Carnegie Course soon to begin in Kingston.

"We are bringing the Dale Carnegie Course to our community because we feel it is in the interest of public service," Treat said.

"Last spring's overwhelming response and the enthusiastic attitude of nearly 45 graduates of Kingston Class 15, points out the need to continue such programs in Kingston."

During the forming of the Kingston Class here, The Daily Freeman will publish a series of feature articles by Mike Rothenberger, Director of Public Relations of Dale Carnegie and Associates, Inc. of New York.

The series is entitled, "The Way to Win" and it will appear Wednesday and Sunday. The organization of this class will be under the over-all direction of Stan Brown, Area Manager, who presents the Dale Carnegie Courses in Westchester as well as the Mid Hudson regions.

Assembly have been mentioned. Gorman is thought to prefer not to assume the leadership but has indicated that he would make a bid for it if he did not agree with his party's choice.

Another strong contender can be found in Richard Thornton (D-Dist. 1) who would probably receive a large measure of support from his fellow legislators.

Decorcrats and is considered a leading candidate. But a third man reportedly looms as another possibility. Lewis C. Kirschner (D-Dist. 7), completing his first two-year term in office, is known to be interested in the post and will probably be soliciting support.

When the Legislature takes office in January it will be with a 23-10 Republican majority compared with the present 22-11.

But it is not the numbers that make the difference but the fact that a number of young, and vocal Democrats have joined the board. Alex J. Nirenberg of Dist. 10 (Wawarsing) and Louis M. Klein (D-Dist. 7), in particular are expected to become a fighting force.

Seasoning of another type will come from the election of James Carroll (D-City), a former alderman and supervisor who will bring years of political experience with him to the Legislative body.

On the Republican side, three veteran legislators will bring a wealth of governmental know-how to the board. Re-elected after two year absences are Clarence Raiche (R-City), C. Freeman Lasher (R-Dist. 1) and Robert Kuhlmann (R-Dist. 10).

The only true new Republican legislator is Harry Kaprellian (R-City) who helped increase the GOP majority. The Legislature will lose three veteran lawmakers — Paul Brazier (D-Dist. 1, Frank Muller (R-Dist. 10) and Orrie R. Riehl (D-City).

Ulster Nursing Graduates Excell

STONE RIDGE represented 82 per cent of last June's graduating class. Eighteen graduates of the Associate Degree Nursing Program at Ulster County Community College have excelled on the New York State Board Licensing Examination for their R.N. licensure, President George B. Erbstein announced today.

He said the mean class scores were above the combined mean scores reported for all programs, including those in baccalaureate and diploma programs.

"We are highly pleased to have such an excellent record on this examination," said Dr. Erbstein, "and we feel it is a good indication of the fine two-year Associate Degree Nursing Program we have at our College."

Mrs. Florence Irwin, Chairman of the Department of Nursing Education at U.C.C.C., said the 18 graduates who passed the examination now has a baccalaureate program, and at the Lexington Technical Institute at the University of Kentucky. Last June's graduating class

The grades achieved by our graduates were high," said Mrs. Irwin, "and I feel this speaks well for the program at Ulster. It has been a rewarding experience to work with motivated students and a faculty committed to the philosophy of the Program."

The state examination consisted of five parts: Medical Surgical, Obstetrical, Child Health and Psychiatric Nursing. The College's program is open to men or women, married or single, who are high school graduates or hold a high school equivalency diploma.

In addition to starting the Associate Degree Nursing Program at Ulster, Mrs. Irwin previously started similar programs at Mt. St. Mary College in Newburgh, which

The community college presently has the only nursing program in Ulster County, and Mrs. Irwin says she feels the College will be able to continue applying graduates to help meet the urgent need that now exists for general staff nurses in a virtually all major clinical areas.

Ulster Legislature to Reveal Budget Nov. 10

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON — The tentative budget of the Ulster County Legislature will be made public Wednesday, Nov. 10 and a public hearing on the proposal will take place Nov. 23, it was announced today.

Although the total amount of the budget has not been revealed, it is known that the salaries of the legislature and their leaders will remain the same. Under the current budget, members of the Legislature receive $3,000 annually, the chairman is given $7,500, the majority leader, $4,000 and the minority leader, $3,700.

The Legislature, which meets Thursday, Nov. 11 will consider the planned abandonment of the Penn Central Railroad's Catskill Mountain Branch, the awarding of two contracts for construction and equipment at Ulster County Community College and a number of resolutions pertaining to routine tax matters. The effort to save the railroad branch from abandonment is being made by the five Republican Legislators from Dist. 2, who represent some of the towns through which the railroad passes.

They include Majority Leader Douglas V. Dye, Lester C.

Elmendorf, Lewis Hall, Richard Nace and S. Robert Kelder. Their resolution asks the Legislature to "condemn any move to abandon the right of way." They point out that the railroad has served the towns of Hurley, Ulster, Olive and Shandaken for many years and is an asset to any future business development which may anticipate locating in the three townships. And, it is currently serving existing business and industry. The Legislature will act on requesting the New York State Transportation Service Bureau and the New York State Public Service Commission to deny any request for abandonment. The board will also be asked to award a low bid of $30,000 into a contract with another low bidder, Inwall Construction in Brooklyn for equipment for the amount of $32,141 for construction of a maintenance building lab and prep room. It will also be asked to enter into a contract with another low bidder, Inwall Construction in Brooklyn for equipment for the amount of $32,141 for con-

Rosendale Constables Resign

By JON POWERS

ROSENDALE — "Personal differences" with the Town of Rosendale dispatcher reportedly led to the resignation Wednesday night of two town constables.

Kenneth Gordon, a 15-year veteran of the Rosendale constabulary, and Robert Racicot, submitted their resignations from the constabulary at Wednesday's meeting of the Rosendale Town Board.

Both resignations were accepted, and the two vacancies were filled. Town of Rosendale Supervisor Gerard DeFelice told The Freeman today that Gordon resigned "basically because of personal differences between himself and the dispatcher" (Mrs. Olive Burd).

Racicot, he added, resigned for the same reasons, but DeFelice also noted that the former constable is planning to move out of the area. Gordon, contacted by The Freeman today, said, "We've been having so much trouble in the constabulary. I just decided to get out now. The dispatcher is involved in it" (his decision to resign).

In recent weeks, there have been a number of charges leveled against town officials by a former Rosendale constable, Franz Muller, who has charged that several constables have been hired despite the fact that they allegedly have former police records. The charges have been denied by DeFelice and other town officials.

Gordon was not among those "fingered" by Muller, and he denied that he resigned in protest of the town's hiring practices.

"That has nothing to do with me," said Gordon. "Besides," he added, "all the facts are there."

Gordon first submitted his resignation Friday night, but agreed to stay on the force for awhile longer. Gordon, Racicot and DeFelice met that night with Mrs. Burd in an unsuccessful attempt to iron out their difficulties.

Mrs. Burd said today, "This is the result of some sort of misunderstanding that can never be resolved now. They (Gordon and Racicot) are very good people and I feel very badly about this whole thing. I don't want to hurt anyone."

An apparent communications gap between the Dispatcher and the constables was cited by some as the reason for the conflict.

Fred LeFever and Harold O'Byrne were appointed by the Town Board to replace Gordon and Racicot.

Five Persons Are Injured In Northern Dutchess Crash

TOWN OF RED HOOK — Five persons were injured, one critically at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday when the cars in which they were riding were involved in a collision on Route 9G south of Kerley Road in this northern Dutchess County township.

Other traffic accidents were investigated by Leeds State Police and Kingston Police.

Trooper J. J. Harkan of Rhinebeck said the cars involved in the local mishap were driven by Robert Goldwitz, 18, of Woodstock, and James Grass, 28, of Tivoli. Goldwitz was traveling north when his car went off the right shoulder of the highway and then entered the highway and was in collision with the Grass vehicle.

Grass was taken to St. Francis Hospital in Poughkeepsie. He suffered a depressed fracture of the skull and other injuries. His condition was listed as critical.

Goldwitz sustained a fracture of the right shoulder and other injuries. Passengers in his car were: David Huber, 18, Red Hook, who received a fracture of the pelvis and wrist; Kathy Webster, 18, Red Hook, who sustained lacerations; John Walsh, 18, also of Red Hook, who suffered bruises and contusions. They were all taken to the Northern Dutchess Hospital in Rhinebeck.

Troopers said action is pending.

Leeds State Police investigated a head-on collision that resulted in injuries to a trooper and a Hudson man. Troopers said numerous complaints were received from motorists about a car traveling the wrong way against traffic on Route 23 at 9:45 p. m. Wednesday.

Trooper Robert G. Sprague went to intercept the car. As he drove along the highway with the roof red light flashing, he spotted the other vehicle. The trooper pulled to the right to avoid a crash but the other driver identified as William R. Harrison, 42, of Hudson, headed for the police vehicle and subsequently the cars collided.

Sprague and Harrison were taken to Greene County Memorial Hospital in Catskill. Sprague was treated for a laceration of the forehead that required five sutures and injuries of the left arm and knees. Harrison was treated for fractured ribs, lacerations and contusions.

The Hudson man was cited for drunken driving and operating a car the "wrong way on a highway. Summonses are returnable later before Catskill Justice Nicholas Bier. Harrison was driving a car owned by the New York Telephone Company of Newburgh, troopers said.

The mishap was investigated by Zone Sergeant Edward F. Lynch of Hurley, and Troopers R. J. Stabile and Paul R. Barber.

Kingston police reported an accident occurred Wednesday night on Linderman Avenue involving a car operated by Robert J. Cote, 19, of PO Box 193, Modena. The youth was driving west and made a turn when the vehicle went out of control and hit a fire hydrant. Cote was cited for making an unsafe turn. The Water Department was notified and the water was shut off pending repairs.

Blast From Cancer Society Against Some Medical Groups

NEW YORK (AP) — The president of the American Cancer Society said today that some medical organizations should devote more of their energy to educating American doctors about cancer.

The sharp and unusual attack at the American Cancer Society's annual meeting came from Dr. H. Marvin Pollard who criticized opponents of President Nixon's plan to set up a separate cancer agency.

Pollard, in a speech prepared for the meeting, said that the average doctor has a low level of suspicion of cancer in his patients and this hampers early diagnosis.

"Also, my own feeling is that if some of our major educational organizations, including the American Association of Medical Colleges, through its spokesmen, would concentrate their efforts on the field of cancer education, rather than attempting to maintain the status quo of the National Institutes of Health, far more would result," Pollard said.

Although the administration's "conquest of cancer" plan is strongly supported by the cancer society, it has evoked equally strong opposition from a broad segment of the medical and scientific community.

The program includes moving the National Cancer Institute from under the wing of the National Institutes of Health and having it report directly to the President.

The National Institutes of Health has supported major medical research programs for years and other institutes under its wing are concerned with such problems as heart, lungs, allergic and neurologic diseases. Critics of the President's plan argue the move could lead to the destruction of the parent organization.

Pollard also indicated what the cancer society can do in educational areas and what direction it will go now that the Federal government is stepping up its research effort.

"The answer lies, I believe, within the potential of the American Cancer Society to assume the leadership—yes, and the responsibility—for fulfilling this major educational need," said Pollard, a professor of internal medicine at the University of Michigan medical school.

"To do this will require tremendous organizational skill, and, of course, a considerable

'Absolute' Austerity Program Underway in New York State

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — The Rockefeller administration has plunged the state into an "absolute" austerity program as a first step in finding ways of cutting spending or raising taxes to make up for the defeat of the $2.5 billion transportation bond issue.

The new austerity measures were made public Wednesday night — less than 24 hours after the polls closed. With 96 percent of the state's election districts reporting, the unofficial totals showed the bond issue was defeated by a margin of 857,002.

With a budget deficit of at least $770 million looming by April 1, indications were Governor Rockefeller would ask the legislature in January to raise income and "nuisance" taxes and chop aid to localities to put the state back in the black.

One of the first steps was expected to be cancelling highway contracts wherever possible, since $300 million worth of work was being counted on through approval of the issue.

The "interim" austerity measures announced Wednesday by Budget Director Richard L. Dunham included:

— A freeze on filling any vacancies in the state's 200,000 employee work force; — A ban on issuing any new contracts or buying new equipment;

— Cancelling all out-of-state travel by state employees.

"This is absolute," a spokesman for Dunham said. "We've got to have breathing time until we can determine where the long-range cutbacks will be."

Despite the fanfare over the austerity measures, the action was mostly symbolic. State agencies have been on a general

"holddown" since last December — and the budget spokesman conceded that any substantial economies would have to come elsewhere.

Rockefeller called Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea and Senate Republican Leader Earl

W. Brydges to a meeting Saturday to find ways of closing the $770 million revenue gap.

Besides the bond issue loss, the governor estimated a fall-off in expected revenues would leave the state $470 million short this year.

Voters Give the Reasons Why

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Disgruntled over mushrooming state expenditures, fed up with taxes and "turned off" by a saturation advertising campaign—those were the reasons voters gave in a statewide opinion sampling on why Gov. Rockefeller's $2.5-billion transportation bond issue was rejected at the polls Tuesday.

Some of the those queried about the motives behind the bond issue's failure said it was merely an extension of the taxpayer's revolt that has been sweeping the country.

Others said the rejection stemmed from a basic fear of increased spending in light of the national economy.

And some people said flatly they resented the pressure brought by state and local political leaders who campaigned vigorously for the bond issue.

Most of the people asked about the impact of the bond issue's rejection were resigned to the probability of new taxes.

"I'm sick of Rockefeller and all his spending. I expect taxes to be increased. They always are, anyway," said Miss Maureen Condon of Albany, who voted against the proposal.

"I didn't like the way Rockefeller tried to ram it down my throat," said Robert Harris of Queens, a management consultant. "His threats to raise subway fares sounded like black-

Mrs. Florence Holtzman, a secretary from Queens, said she was "elated" over the proposal's defeat. "I don't like threats of tax increases and subway fare increase—we get the increases anyhow."

The high-pressure, phony advertising campaign turned me off," she added. "I'm suspicious of anything New York City Mayor John Lindsay and Rockefeller agree on."

Mrs. Davis Sidnam, the wife of a Syracuse physician, said she believed much of the opposition to the bond issue in the community stemmed from the belief that New York City residents would be the major beneficiaries.

In Buffalo, Mrs. John Hunt said she voted in favor of the bond issue, but thought others turned against it "because of Rockefeller."

"I'm so fed up with everything—higher taxes. And I guess the rest of the people are too," she added.

Another Buffalo resident, Eugene J. Murphy, said he felt the size of the bond issue scared people.

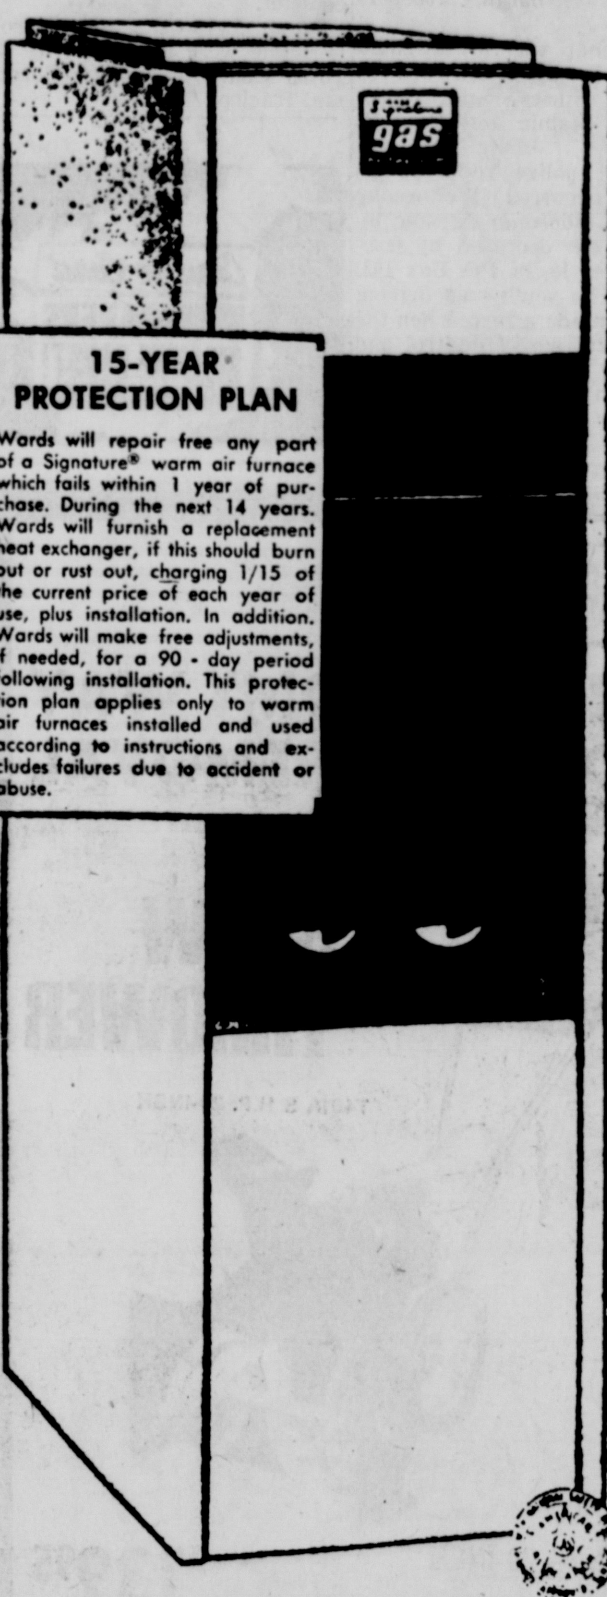

"The people were insulted by the tremendous publicity and the push by Albany to ramrod it down their throats. The advertising campaign was outrageous," Murphy said. "I think Rockefeller will carry through to new taxes and cut-

Senate Judiciary Committee

More Questioning for Court Nominees

HEARING BREAK — Supreme Court nominee William H. Rehnquist, under critical Senate questioning, defended limited wiretapping, the mass arrests of peace demonstrators in Washington, D. C., last spring and the government's effort to block publication of the secret Pentagon papers. Rehnquist, 47, presently an assistant attorney general, is shown during a break in the Senate Judiciary Committee's hearing on his nomination. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supreme Court nominee William H. Rehnquist faces more questioning by the Senate Judiciary Committee after liberal Democrats expressed concern about his conservative philosophy.

But no challenge was raised at a 6½-hour hearing Wednesday to the legal competence, integrity or judicial temperament of the 47-year-old Justice Department lawyer—a top aide to Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., the committee chairman, said Richmond, Va., attorney Lewis F. Powell Jr. would take the witness chair later today after questioning of Rehnquist is completed.

Rehnquist and Powell were named by President Nixon to fill the two vacancies on the high tribunal left by retirement of Justices John M. Harlan and the late Hugo L. Black.

Although Powell, 64, also is a conservative, little opposition has surfaced in and out of Congress to his nomination.

Such organizations as Americans for Democratic Action and the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights are opposed to Rehnquist's nomination, but they have announced they do not intend to fight Senate confirmation of Powell. The American Bar Association's 12-member committee on the Federal judiciary notified the Senate panel Wednesday of its unanimous opinion that both Rehnquist and Powell are qualified to serve on the Supreme Court.

Such liberal Democrats as Philip A. Hart of Michigan, Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, Birch Bayh of Indiana and John V. Tunney of California did most of the questioning at Wednesday's hearing.

Most of the Republicans, in the minority on the committee, still were waiting for their turn when an overnight recess was called.

Here are some of the highlights of the testimony Rehnquist gave in a calm, deliberate manner in answer to questions put to him:

He said that government wiretapping is "not an appealing thing to do and is justified only by exigent circumstances." Such forms of surveillance, he said, are legitimate only "to solve a crime or prevent the commission of a crime."

A case is now before the Supreme Court challenging Mitchell's contention that court orders are not required for use of wiretaps on groups or individuals he concludes constitute a national security threat.

Rehnquist strongly indicated that, if confirmed, he would disqualify himself from sitting in such cases since he said he had assisted in preparing the government's brief in the arguments now before the court.

He testified that the purpose of the Bill of Rights is "to put restraints on the government." He said just the fact that a court decision may restrict the police is no argument against the ruling.

The assistant attorney general, appointed to his Justice Department post in 1969 after practicing law in Phoenix, said he felt Ohio national guardsmen, in firing on Kent State student demonstrators, had made "misguided and unwarranted use of force."

But in answer to a question by Kennedy, he said he had not urged a federal grand jury investigation. He testified this was out of his bailiwick.

Rehnquist said he played only a minor role in the government's attempt to prevent publication of the top-secret Pentagon Papers by several newspapers.

Rehnquist said he believes in the "concept of neighborhood schools" and "has some reservations about transporting students great distances" to accomplish desegregation.

Rehnquist defended the mass arrests by Washington police of antiwar demonstrators who tried in May to shut down the government.

Questioned about antiwar amendments offered in Congress, Rehnquist said he has reservations about the constitutional power of Congress to pass legislation limiting a President's authority "to preserve or save the lives of men already legally in the field of battle."

But he said Congress' power to shut off funds to finance a war is so clear that he does not regard it as a debatable constitutional issue.

British Troops Flush Out Snipers

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Several hundred British troops ringed a mile-square Roman Catholic area of Belfast today trying to flush out the snipers, including some holed up in two churches and a cemetery.

At least one gunman was killed and another wounded in the hour-long battle that began shortly before 1 a.m. in the Roman Catholic Unity Flats housing development northwest of the downtown area, an army spokesman said.

Two policemen were slightly wounded by a gunman's bullet, he said.

"If we don't get them before daylight, they'll disappear like they always do," said one officer.

A six-man patrol in two Landrovers was pinned down for an hour by a sniper on the edge of the development. Some men took cover under the vehicles while others tried to edge closer to the sniper's position. But they were not able to get him, and the shooting stopped as suddenly as it began.

Snipers at one point were holed up in St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church in Donegal Street, St. Ennock's Presbyterian Church a quarter mile away on Crumlin Road, and in a cemetery behind the Glenravel Street police station.

The trouble started when troops went to the area to search houses. About 20 to 30 women began throwing stones in protest and the army fired rubber bullets. An hour later the troops came under sniper attack which continued throughout the night.

The Unity Flats area had been relatively quiet in recent months, although it had often been the scene of disturbances at the beginning of the current troubles in August, 1969.

Car Industry Sets October Record

DETROIT (AP) — U.S. automakers sold more cars in October than in any other month in the industry's history as showrooms overflowed with buyers taking advantage of price savings under the government's economic stabilization program.

Traditionally the industry's strongest sales month, October saw the four major U.S. automakers sell 933,713 cars breaking the old mark of 885,328 set in October 1968.

Only 629,152 cars were sold in October 1970, due in part to a strike at General Motors.

October sales were 48.5 per cent above October 1970, 14.2 per cent ahead of October 1969 and 5.5 per cent over the 1968 record month.

October was the second full sales month under President

Nixon's new economic measures, which led to a rollback in the price increases of new models, promised a lower excise tax and placed a surcharge on imported cars.

GM topped the 500,000 sales mark for the first month ever. Ford and American Motors also registered increases, as only Chrysler slipped behind its previous two year figures.

Ford President Lee A. Iacocca, after seeing preliminary sales figures for October, predicted a record sales year for the industry.

"In fact," he said, "the market is very strong, and for all of 1971 it now appears the industry will, for the first time ever, exceed the 10-million car sales mark."

Iacocca's prediction included import sales, expected to reach

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, NOVEMBER 4, 1971

WASHINGTON—A top State Department official, frustrated in his attempts to break through the White House guard with urgent warnings, has turned to us to sound the alarm. We have agreed not to disclose his identity at this time.

Washington has affronted and antagonized and alienated other nations, he says, until U.S. influence is on the wane around the world. There was a nasty, anti-American undercurrent to the resounding United Nations vote to oust Nationalist China. In most countries, it has become a popular political sport to make Uncle Sam a whipping boy. Even our Canadian cousins could scarcely refrain from thumbing their noses at the U.S. as they escorted Soviet Premier Aleksei Kosygin on a coup de theatre. Unless the trend is reversed, the alarmed official makes these predictions:

President Nixon has delivered a series of stunning blows to Japan's Prime Minister Eisaku Sato, whose government has been our staunchest ally in Asia. These buffetings will bring Sato's downfall. Sato's successor, seeking to avoid the same political pitfall, will take pains to demonstrate his independence of the U.S.

The Nixon Administration, in its global maneuvers, has virtually ignored Latin America. Among the resentful Latin Americans, hostility toward the U.S. is on the rise. The first manifestation will be a resumption of diplomatic, economic and political ties between our Latin American allies and Communist Cuba. This will be followed by closer contacts with China and Russia. By the end of the decade, Latin America will be Washington's biggest headache.

U.S. pressure upon Israel will result in the reopening of the Suez Canal. But most of all, this will benefit the Soviets by linking up their Mediterranean and Indian Ocean fleets. Meanwhile, they will move into the vacuum created by the British departure from the Persian Gulf. This will give the Soviets a firm hand on the world oil faucet.

Trade War?

President Nixon's new protectionist policies have already caused angry rumblings in Western Europe. Trade battles, reminiscent of the early 1930s can be expected. This will lead, as it did in the 1930s, to a worldwide economic slump. The Kremlin will take full advantage of the resulting hostility between Western Europe and the United States. This will bring a dramatic increase in the Soviet role in European affairs.

Although Canadian-American ties are too strong to be broken, they are sure to be loosened. The Canadians are thoroughly soured over what they believe to be President Nixon's high-handed treatment of them. The 10 per cent surcharge on imports is hurting the Canadian economy, and the Amchitka Island nuclear tests were scheduled in complete disregard of Canadian protests. Hereafter, Ottawa will no longer take its diplomatic signals from Washington.

Isn't President Nixon's policies, so much as his methods, which alarm this official. He agrees the White House should set the nation's course—without consulting the professional diplomats, if the President wishes. But the professionals should be used to implement the policies once they're set.

The official fiercely believes that urgent steps must be taken to halt the worldwide recession of U.S. power and prestige. For one, he suggests the U.S. should strive to put Japan, the world's third industrial power, on the Security Council. He thinks Latin American countries should also be invited to join the U.S. in a Common Market geared to increase hemispheric prosperity.

It will take dramatic moves, he warns, to stop the diplomatic deterioration. The old diplomacy no longer is good enough.

Headlines and Footnotes

Intimates say Treasury Secretary John Connally would accept the GOP vice presidential nomination next year if President Nixon will pledge to support him for President in 1976. . . . White House aides are also sizing up six-foot-seven, ruggedly handsome Rogers C. B. Morton the able Interior Secretary, as vice presidential timber. . . . State Secretary Bill Rogers, talking to GOP leaders behind closed White House doors, gave a preview of President Nixon's 1972 campaign theme: "The world is a more peaceful place than it was two and a half years ago. The United States is a more peaceful place than it was two and a half years ago."

Housing and Urban Development Secretary George Romney's brave attempt to set an example of sacrifice has quietly fizzled. He urged his fellow cabinet officers in 1969 to turn back part of their salaries as an example to the nation. Instead, they accepted a salary increase from $35,000 to $60,000. For several months, Romney returned one-fourth of his salary to the Treasury. But he has quietly abandoned the gesture and is now collecting his full salary. . . .

Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla., is now serving on the House Internal Security Committee, formerly the House Un-American Activities Committee, which helped circulate those smears about "Red Pepper" back in the 1950s. He discovered in the committee files a campaign document citing his alleged soft-on-communism record, that George Smathers had used against him in the 1950 Senate race. . . . The Senate's Democratic leader Mike Mansfield and Republican leader Hugh Scott have agreed to recess the Senate no later than December.

Sovereignty Eyed

It's time to begin examining the membership of the United Nations, as some of the countries on the list don't really belong there at all, since they haven't achieved independence.

Congressman J. Herbert Burke, Republican of Florida, will introduce in the House of Representatives in a few days a resolution asking Congress to clarify once and for all "the inequitable representation in the United Nations for member states." He points out that Soviet Union maintains three separate and equal votes in the world body to one each for all other members. He adds:

"The Soviets claim that both the Ukrainian SSR and the Byelorussian SSR are separate states. However, according to our state department's Soviet desk, the British Embassy's information office and the French Embassy's information office, these two integral states of the U.S.S.R. have not been sovereign since the 1918 revolution, have no separate diplomatic relations with any other state, nor conduct their own foreign relations separate from that of the U.S.S.R.'s."

Mr. Burke states that, in view of this, "according to International Law they are non-existent as duly recognized, separate, nation-states" and "should have no representation." He says they should, therefore, "be expelled from the United Nations."

In the formal resolution which he presented, Congressman Burke would have the House declare:

"Resolved, that it is the sense of the House of Representatives that the President, acting through the United States delegation to the United Nations, should take such steps as may be necessary to bring before the General Assembly of the United Nations the question of the eligibility of the Byelorussian Soviet Socialist Republic and the Ukrainian Soviet Socialist Republic for membership in the United Nations and seek their expulsion."

There are many other countries whose independence may be wobbly. The "captive nations" of Eastern Europe, which have been under the control of the Soviet Union since the close of World War II, are hardly sovereign states. They are under the yoke of the Soviets. Yet the United Nations participates in the fiction that these countries are independent units and are enjoying self-government when, as a matter of fact, they are not.

An investigation of the status of all the nations which are dominated and under virtual management by a foreign government would be enlightening. It would reveal that some of the countries are more satellites or tools or a patron government and have been brought into the United Nations under false pretenses. The expulsion of Taiwan, which has for years been an independent entity, opens up the whole subject of whether all countries which have really gained their freedom are eligible for membership in the United Nations. Apparently their former rulers are politically powerful enough to deny them a seat.

The United Nations, therefore, instead of being a free organization is a political instrumentality whose membership is controlled by votes of governments which seek the support—either military or political—of major powers. Under international law there is no justification for seating a country which does not truly have an independent status, but the world has witnessed a spectacle in the last two weeks wherein Taiwan, which is unquestionably independent, has been expelled while two so-called "states" which are integral parts of a major power still remain in the United Nations along with a number of satellites of that same power.

Can the United Nations afford to present to the world the image of an organization which ignores the requirement that only independent states are qualified for membership or the rule of fairness that no nation shall be able to put one of its colonies or provinces into the U.N. and thereby gain extra votes for political purposes?

Representative Burke's resolution will open the eyes of many members of Congress and show them how the United Nations continues to accept as members two allegedly independent states which, in fact, have been a part of the Soviet Union since 1918. It certainly is time for international law to be invoked if the United Nations is to be respected as an institution composed of a group of truly independent governments.

Myth Disintegrates

Curt Flood is covering as much ground in the courts these days as he used to cover in center field back in his days of indentured servitude with the St. Louis Cardinals. Now the U.S. Supreme Court has agreed to hear Flood's suit, which contends the "reserve clause" in baseball violates anti-trust laws.

Flood is currently 0-for-2, since a federal district court and a U.S. appeals court both rejected his suit. But both rejections were based on a 1922 U.S. Supreme Court ruling that exempted baseball from the antitrust restrictions and he is hopeful that the time is ripe for an overruling.

His argument is that the reserve clause, which gives a team exclusive rights to a player until it decides it doesn't want him any more, prevents an athlete from making the most of a marketable commodity, his body. Organized Baseball (it is just about like General Motors or Dow Chemical) argues that without the reserve clause all the best players would soon gravitate to whichever team had the most money and that team, having the best players, would keep winning and making more money and getting more good players ad infinitum.

Of course, baseball's moral standing is questionable, since chameleon-like teams have all too frequently changed cities lately, following wherever the scent of quick profits leads. It has become a national pastime whose life signs are charted in red and black ink.

Still it is hard to be sympathetic with Flood. There is many a bus driver or policeman or schoolteacher who would be willing to put up with the threat of having to move from St. Louis to Philadelphia if the reward were an annual salary of $90,000, which Flood was getting from the Cardinals. Even the minimum salary for a major leaguer, $13,000, is substantial for seven months' work. And there are considerable fringe benefits.

Though abolishing the reserve clause completely might liberate the players, the liberation would like be in the direction of freeing their afternoons and evenings for more contemplation and improvement of their mind since the fans would soon tire of a game of musical dugouts. Wouldn't Stan Musial have seemed less pure if he had played with 14 different high bidders during his career?

Modifying the clause to resemble professional football's is not likely to solve many problems, either. A football player can, after playing for his present team one year after his contract expires, leave to join another team. But the new team has to compensate the old one with a player of equal quality, which sounds strangely like what baseball calls a trade.

Football players have only rarely taken advantage of their freedom, either because the threat it gives them has made their owners treat them more fairly, they are reluctant to move once they have established themselves and their families in a city and/or the team owners have avoided bidding for each other's athletes.

Since the Washington Senators' move to Texas has soured the powers that be on baseball, some revision of the reserve clause is likely, probably by Congress via the Supreme Court. That isn't going to hurt anybody too much.

But it seems kind of sad that baseball fans, vulnerable idealists that they are, have to go through all of this. How harsh-sounding are the words "antitrust" and "litigation" when they're injected into a discussion about baseball. It is bad enough that the myth disintegrates; we hardly need to have our face rubbed in what's left over.

Soon, no doubt, we will have welfare programs for underprivileged teams, ex-managers running for governor and maybe even an athletic version of the Mann Act to prevent owners from transporting teams across state lines for greedy purposes.

It was all a lot nicer back on the sandlot.

NO GAIN IN DRUG USE—Service-men's drug use has leveled off at 5.1 per cent, as was found when 103,279 were tested. Progress made by the army in facilities and mastering of drugs is remarkable. The widely touted poll last spring, which showed 16.15 per cent drug use, included casual users and experimenters.

SHARP RETAIL INCREASES—Millions of Americans sharply increased their buying of goods in September, sales of leading merchandising companies reveal. It was a reflection of public confidence in President Nixon's economic plan, though some concerns attributed it to stronger consumer attitudes.

Pinched for Raw Materials

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Not too many Americans realize it yet, but the joyride days of easy come, easy go may be ending.

Embedded in President Nixon's newly restrictive foreign economic policy (viewed harshly by our principal trading partners, like Japan, Canada and West Germany) is this hard nut:

We are beginning to run out of some essential raw materials. It all came so easily for so long, we thought we were dealing from a bottomless pit. Not so. The toughest part of our worsening world trade equation is our rising dependence on raw materials imports.

Today we are taking in from abroad about 25 per cent of our annual petroleum consumption. With rising population and diminishing domestic reserves (even counting the Alaska find), we may be importing anywhere from 45 per cent to 65 per cent of our yearly oil needs by 1980.

We have had to place rising reliance upon foreign sources of iron ore and bauxite, the raw form of aluminum. The alloy metals which harden steel for specialty uses have never been plentiful here.

To make all this worse from our viewpoint, our foreign suppliers are less and less content to sell us just plain raw materials. A growing tendency in Canada and elsewhere is to insist that a certain amount of "upgrading" take place in the supplying country, before a product can be sold to foreign customers.

What this can mean is that we may find we have to buy steel ingots or semifinished steel shapes instead of iron ore. Obviously, the cost to us will be greater. Not to mention the potential hurt to our own steel-making and semi-fabricating factory capacity.

It is perhaps too early for thick gloom. Nixon's new commission on national materials policy is just getting under way and is not due to report until mid-1973. Its recommendations may include some ways to ease the growing materials pinch.

For instance, there may be a good prospect that fuller use of scrap metals and other recycling techniques, may ease our mounting dependence on other nations. One minerals specialist says that very likely there are highly valuable amounts of manganese contained in the slag (waste product of steel-making) which now is packed into hollows all around the Pittsburgh area.

No one imagines, however, that recycling and recovery of usable materials from waste is a cheap process. It all indicates a higher future price tag on things we have taken for granted. Nor will a turn to substitute materials (more use of plastics, for instance) necessarily brighten the outlook.

The grand honeymoon, then, is nearly over. Chilling reality is beginning to make its imprint on an American nation which for almost two centuries has lived with the dreamy unreality of ever-flowing riches.

The thoughtful Daniel Boorstin, director of the Smithsonian's National Museum of History and Technology, says:

"We never felt we had to pay a price for anything."

In fact, we have been paying heavy charge. The wealth of this land has allowed us to democratize life as no other people has done, widening opportunities for basic good living, education, travel, etc. But in using these resources we have been wasteful and unthinking.

Says Boorstin: "The trouble is, in history you never see the price tag until after you have made your purchase."

The Election of Spiro

People have been stopping me on the street to ask, "What do you think of the long-term consequences will be of the Senate's vindictive response to the United Nations' admission of mainland China and the expulsion of Taiwan, as well as the Senate's surprise vote to eliminate foreign aid, which came about through a coalition of conservatives, who have always been against foreign aid, and liberals, who have become disenchanted with it, Bob?"

I've also been questioned about the Senate vote permitting aid to the military dictatorship in Greece, plans for the construction of a $16 million Voice of America broadcasting station there, and Vice President Agnew's warm, backslapping exchanges with the Greek junta on his recent visit to the land of his ancestors.

What I think about these bizarre events can best be summed up by the television program I expect to see on election night, November 1976:

"And now, ladies and gentlemen, here is a round-up and analysis by our anchor man, Sandy Van Whipsnade."

"Thank you George. Well, I think I can safely say that it has been an historic election. The big question is 'How did it happen?' How did former Vice President Agnew, who was not even renominated in 1972, manage to win the presidency only four years later?"

"There are several reasons, some of which would have been summarized for you by our Instant Analysis Computer if it hadn't suffered an input overload of historical statistics. If you were tuned in earlier you know that 'Annie,' as we call her, predicted the election of Martin Van Buren before she blew her transistors.

"Here are what I see as the main reasons for the Agnew victory:

"First, there is no doubt that the presence on the ticket of Shirley Temple Black, now our Vice-President-elect, played a major role. So did the slogan, 'Vote for Agnew, the Man Who Dared to Run with a Woman and a Black.' That slogan was heavily criticized by their opponents, but it certainly got votes.

"Second, Agnew made it with less than 15 per cent of the total vote. You will remember that in the 1972 election President Nixon won with only 36 per cent because of votes drained from him and the Democratic candidate by the third party candidate George Wallace and the fourth party candidate Eugene McCarthy.

"Well, this time, in 1976, we had not only the same third and fourth party candidates again, we also had a fifth party headed by General William Calley, a seventh headed by Jane Fonda, an eighth headed by Norman Mailer, a ninth headed by Governor Rockefeller, a tenth headed by Mayor Lindsay, and an eleventh headed by... excuse me, I'll have to look on this chart.

"...oh, yes, by Harold Stassen. Third, there was a tremendous build-up of pro-Greek sentiment in this country because Greece is the only nation in the world with which we are still allied. And the only Greek candidate in the race was Spiro Agnew.

"Fourth, Greek shipowners like Stavros Niarchos and Aristotle Onassis found enough loopholes in the new campaign finance law to provide candidate Agnew with an estimated $1 billion — more than was raised by all the other presidential candidates in American history.

"Fifth, ever since 1971, when the U.S. lost that China vote in the United Nations, there has been a residue of bitterness toward that body. Agnew cleverly exploited that bitterness when he announced that if he won he would appoint Senator Barry Goldwater as Secretary of State. It's worth recalling tonight that back in 1971 Goldwater said, 'Let the UN fold up. Let it move to Peking or Moscow.'

"As everyone knows, the UN didn't fold up, but it did move to Peking. Many delegates insisted that the reason wasn't Congressional refusal to vote UN appropriations — that they moved only because in Peking the food was better, the streets safer, and the laundries faster — but in any case the U.S., Rockefeller, and Greece are now the only nations that are not members of the UN.

"Sixth, the Agnew campaign managed to work up the greatest amount of patriotic fervor on this, the 200th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. They used flags, fife and drum corps, and Daughters of the American Revolution drill teams. Agnew's campaign manager, William Rehnquist, on leave of absence from the Supreme Court, even doffed his judicial robes in favor of an Uncle Sam outfit.

"Finally, there was the same hot issue with which President-elect Agnew has always been identified — the communications media. Agnew stepped up his attacks on newspapers and broadcasters in this campaign to a point never before reached in this nation's history.

"Much of what any man says at such a time must be dismissed as campaign rhetoric, so we shouldn't take seriously the former Vice President's vow that if elected he would order the Signal Corps to cut all radio and television... hey, George, what's happened to the monitor?"

"Someone's cut the cables? You mean we're off the air? For how long?"

"Oh, indefinitely. Well, in that case I might as well take that vacation in Greece I've been promising my wife. I hear it's a great little country."

U.S. Aid
And the U.N. Jig

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

It has been truly said that the best way to lose a friend is to lend him money. On that basis the United States has been losing friends since 1947 when, under the "Truman doctrine," it began distributing foreign aid which today totals $143 billion.

Human nature being what it is, the United States would be naive indeed to expect any overflowing demonstrations of gratitude from the recipients of its generosity.

But by the same token, nations receiving U.S. aid should not be surprised by some U.S. irritation when they reward generosity with an obvious show of anti-Americanism.

A case in point is Tanzania whose delegate performed a jig of joy on the floor of the United Nations General Assembly after the defeat of the U.S. attempt to save a U.N. seat for Nationalist China.

Tanzania has been declared by the U.N. to be one of 25 countries with an especially low level of per capita income, a high rate of illiteracy, a lack of natural resources and a bad climate, all of which is supposed to make it a special candidate for aid.

As such it has received a $30 million loan from the U.S.-supported World Bank for an electric power project and additional funds from the International Development Association, the bank's easy-loan affiliate.

It also is the recipient of Red China's largest foreign aid project, a $401 million interest-free loan to Tanzania and Zambia for a railroad between the two countries.

All of this ties in closely with efforts of the Nixon administration to repair the shambles left by the U.S. Senate vote killing the American foreign aid program. The Senate action killed the administration's $3.3 billion foreign aid authorization bill which in actual fact represented less than half of all U.S. aid channeled through various economic and military programs.

The overall actual total annually has been closer to $10 billion than to $3 billion.

Over the years the U.S. aid program probably comes to more than 10 times the amount spent similarly by the Soviet Union. Red Chinese aid scarcely can be compared. Both the Soviet Union and Red China have tended to be more selective.

The Soviet's scoff at the possibility the U.S. aid program is coming to an end. They accuse the U.S. of seeking to build "captive, colonial markets" for U.S. manufactured goods and say the aid program will continue under other guises.

The Red Chinese have attempted to probe weak spots left by both the Soviet Union and the United States. Most Red Chinese aid has gone to Africa and most of that to five countries—Algeria, the former French Congo, Guinea, Mauritania and Tanzania. Since the 1950s it has totaled about $250 million.

Other Red Chinese aid has gone to radical governments and groups in the Persian Gulf area to stir up revolutions there.

High Level Talks Started By Egypt's Anwar Sadat

Cairo's semi-official Al-Ahram newspaper said today that President Anwar Sadat has begun high-level meetings to plan future strategy "to confront and foil the enemy maneuvers" in the Middle East conflict before the year's end.

Sadat held an emergency meeting with his national defense council Wednesday night to discuss Egypt's future in the conflict with Israel and outline the course the country will take to resolve the conflict before Dec. 31, Sadat's deadline.

The president has said Egypt will resolve the deadlocked conflict by the deadline either by peace or war.

Al-Ahram said Sadat briefed the council on all aspects of the crisis and discussed political and military plans during the first meeting.

Sadat's move to call the meeting, the newspaper said, "affirmed that the moment of decision has approached and the time has come to put an end to the deadlock."

Political spokesmen said Egypt's final decision will be made clear in a speech by Sadat at the opening session of the People's Council (parliament) Nov. 11.

Al-Ahram also said the meetings are of "great importance" because they follow talks by Sadat in Moscow, Belgrade, Tehran, Damascus and Tripoli—as well as international contacts at the highest level—about the Middle East situation.

Wednesday, presidential adviser Hafez Ismail said Egypt planned also to take the Middle East issue to the United Nations and possibly hold an Arab summit meeting to coordinate policy.

In Beirut, the independent right-wing newspaper Al-Nahar announced today that Lebanon will receive military hardware worth $8 million from the Soviet Union.

Prime Minister Saeb Salam, however, in announcing the agreement Wednesday declined to say how much Lebanon was spending on the weapons it will receive from Moscow or what types are involved.

In Jerusalem, a foreign ministry spokesman said today that four African leaders there to confer with Prime Minister Golda Meir as part of a fact-finding mission also plan a second round of talks in Jerusalem and Cairo in about two weeks.

The statesmen — Presidents Leopold Senghor of Senegal and Ahmadou Ahidjo of Cameroon, and Gens. Yakubu Gowon of Nigeria and Joseph Mobutu of Zaire (Congo)—met with Mrs. Meir today for the second of four working sessions before flying to Cairo for similar talks Friday.

Two Fiddlers Play Broadway

NEW YORK (UPI)—Two 1905 greater depth of feeling than the stage productions.

The filming location in a Yugoslavian village and imaginative camera work gave the production a greater sense of realism. This film appears destined for several Academy Awards.

The premiere was a $150-a-ticket benefit for the Will Rogers Hospital and included a supper dance at the Americana Hotel. The post-show diners gave an ovation to Topol, Molly Picon, Norma Crane, Paul Mann, Rosalind Harris, Michelle Marsh, and other members of the cast as they arrived for their share of squab and wild rice.

Jerry Back, the composer, and Sheldon Harnick, the lyricist, also attended, along with Myrna Loy, artist Andy Warhol who wore in dinner jacket and blue jeans, Ariane Dahl, former U.S. Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas, Beatrice Lillie, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hoover III, and Barbara Walters.

The three hour and twenty minute film was a solid success for producer-director Norman Jewison and a fresh triumph for "Fiddler" which has been performed in 17 languages since its stage premiere seven years ago.

Topol, 36—less of a comedian than the original Teyve, Zero Mostel—and a strong international cast gave the bittersweet story of Jewish life in Russia in

State Police Nab Youth, Admits Other Burglaries

TOWN OF ULSTER burglaries, according to Hurley State Police.

The youth identified himself at the time of his arrest as Wesley Richard Ross Jr., and gave his address as Middle Esopus Road, Saugerties. He had no papers of identification when he was caught in the store by troopers.

Subsequent investigation by the BCI officers disclosed the youth's name is Wesley Earl Davis Jr. Police said he has admitted to at least 15 burglaries in the towns of Ulster, Woodstock, Saugerties and Newburgh, and also to a number of burglaries in the Rhode Island area where he formerly resided.

Kingston Town Justice Robert E. Ferrig, who previously fixed bail at $2,000, but since the alleged admissions by the defendant involving the rash of burglaries, bail has been boosted to $5,000.

In addition to being held for burglary third degree, Davis also is charged with criminal impersonation involving the false name he originally gave to police.

Kingston Man Is Arrested In Dutchesse

POUGHKEEPSIE A 25-year-old Kingston man was held without bail today in the Dutchess County jail facing two counts of burglary third degree in connection with an investigation of burglaries in the Town of Poughkeepsie.

Police booked John Bohan who gave his address as the Stuyvesant Hotel, Kingston. Arraigned before Town Justice Joseph Weizer, Bohan was committed to jail pending a future court appearance.

Town Police Chief Charles Schade said, two men were reportedly with Bohan eluded authorities and they are being sought.

Schade reported that an alert resident notified police that someone was prowling around a neighbor's home. Patrolman Michael Greta investigated and caught Bohan after a chase along railroad tracks. Two accomplices fled in the darkness.

Police said that Bohan is accused of breaking into the residence of David Hazzard at 108 Fulton Street. The man and the other two allegedly stole drugs, jewelry and pills from the house. About 20 minutes after the burglary, Schade reported, police received a call that a house at 93 Buckingham Avenue had been burglarized and $10 in cash and jewelry were stolen.

OBITUARIES

The subject for the evening will be Pattern's view on the development of Stewart Airfield. Dr. and Mrs. William Hagney will head the committee for the evening.

The officers, Capt. Fred Kamether, 52, of Staten Island, and James Galashaw, 28, of Brooklyn, were released Wednesday in their own recognition following their arraignments in Brooklyn Supreme Court.

They are charged with first and second degree manslaughter in the death of Bernard Cinton, 37, of Brooklyn. He died Aug. 10 of a ruptured spleen and suffered five rib fractures plus multiple cuts and bruises.

Brooklyn Dist. Atty. Eugene Gold said earlier that reports that Cinton had attacked the guards with a knife as he and other fifth floor inmates were being removed from their cells proved false.

Two other guards suspended with Kamether, a 20-year veteran, and Galashaw, who has been with the department for seven years, were cleared by the grand jury.

The defendants could receive up to 25 years in prison if convicted. No date has been set for the trial.

Miss Liberty Has Torch Burn Out

NEW YORK (AP) — The familiar floodlit figure of the Statue of Liberty was missing from the panorama of New York harbor Wednesday night.

Actually, Miss Liberty was in her usual place but an electrical mishap had left the lady standing in darkness holding an unlighted torch.

National Park Service officials explained that a contractor had accidentally damaged the underwater power line.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices opened higher today following news that some large New York banks cut their prime lending rate to 5. per cent.

Chase Manhattan led off with an announcement of a 1/4 per cent reduction in the interest it charges its most creditworthy corporate customers. Several other large banks swiftly followed suit.

Three Nabbed In Hyde Park

HYDE PARK — Three 20-year-old men were arrested at 1:30 a.m. today by Rhinebeck State Police on charges of public intoxication and criminal possession of dangerous drugs sixth degree-marijuana.

Troopers booked Daniel Baker and Peter Frace, both of Poughkeepsie, and Timothy Park. They later pleaded guilty before Town Justice Eugene Simpson and paid fines aggregating $260.

The arrests were made in front of the Hyde Park Inn.

Price Decline Is Listed For October

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Wholesale prices declined slightly in October, the Labor Department said today. It was the second consecutive month of decline in the key economic indicator.

The government's wholesale price index of all commodities dropped 0.1 per cent for October, following a 0.3 per cent decline in September—the only full month that President Nixon's price freeze has been in effect.

The downward trend followed nine straight months of increases.

Based on a 1967 average of 100, the wholesale index now stands at 114.4, which is 3.1 per cent higher than a year earlier.

Labor Department analysts credited the slight decline to the effects of the freeze.

Raw agricultural products, which are not subject to price controls, increased 0.7 per cent. Processed foods and feeds, which are subject to price controls, dropped 0.4 per cent for the month.

ASQC to Meet Next Tuesday

The Mid-Hudson Section of the American Society for Quality Control will meet Tuesday, Nov. 9, at the Italian Center, 227 Mill Street, Poughkeepsie, beginning with a social hour at 6:30 p.m.

The guest speaker will be Frank J. Sindelar, manager of manufacturing standards at IBM's SMD Headquarters in Poughkeepsie.

Sindelar's topic will be Quality Assurance between Product Design Standard and Product Performance.

group, reported that its members are investigating the possibility of hiring a private detective and watchdog to patrol the uptown business district at night in an attempt to prevent break-ins. No final decision on the matter, however, was made.

Pakistan Discussion At New Paltz

NEW PALTZ

The current political situation in Pakistan will be discussed today by Professor Khalid Bin Sayeed, an authority on the subject, at 8:30 p. m. in the Faculty Tower Lounge of State University College, New Paltz.

Sayeed's speech, entitled "Contemporary Pakistan", will be sponsored by Majlis (Group for Understanding International Cultures) in conjunction with the Asian Studies Department, the Center for Continuing Education, and the political science major at the college.

The public is invited.

Chase Bank Sets Slash

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Chase Manhattan Bank Thursday announced a quarter point slash in its prime lending rate, effective immediately.

The bank announced a cut to 5 1/2 per cent from 5 3/4 per cent.

In making the announcement the bank said "the continued downward trend in money market rates over the past two weeks makes a further reduction in the prime appropriate to keep it in line with short term interest rates generally."

The prime rate is that charged the most creditworthy customers. Other lending rates are scaled from this level.

Suburban Dwelling Businessman... Little Time for Family or Recreational Pursuits

NEW YORK (UPI) — The recreation," said Frank Hughes, Irvine vice president in charge of residential development. The premise is sound, Hughes said, is shown by these statistics:

"To date, more than 50 per cent of the buyers of homes and lots at Big Canyon work in the immediate area. "Since the opening in late June, sales of homes, fairway homesites and condominiums have topped the $10 million mark. The first residential increment of 68 homes was quickly sold out—and there's a line of buyers waiting for the next unit. The custom lots are being bought up and the first condominium unit has been nearly sold out."

The same thing he said, is happening at the country club, the first private club organized in Orange County since World War II. Equity memberships started at $7,500 went up rapidly to $9,500 and are going higher still, with applications continuing to come in.

The golf course is the principal unifying element of the community, Hughes said. "The tree-lined fairways, containing six man-made lakes, wind their way through Big Canyon, serving as a vast green belt for the community. Protected views, landscapes and interweaving landscape patterns provide continuity between the golf course and homesites," he explained.

Luxury features are predominant in all the homes. The four- and five-bedroom single family homes have at least two fireplaces. Tile is used lavishly in foyers, family rooms, kitchens and baths. Kitchens contain the latest appliances. There are step-down living rooms, formal dining rooms, separate breakfast nooks, master bedroom suites with private baths and separate dressing areas, three car garages with automatic door openers and up to 10 sliding glass doors leading to gardens, patios and pool areas. The condominium section will offer two, three and four bedroom units. As a result of a unique "golf island" plan, all living environment with mini-plan has been landscaping, development progresses, there will be thousands of trees throughout the different neighborhoods. The golf course, itself, has 3,500 trees along its fairways."

In southern California's Newport Beach, for instance, there is the mile-square Newport Financial Center, a financial, business, medical and major shopping center. A 10 or 15 minute drive north, is the giant Irvine Industrial Complex where some 300 firms employ 21,000 people and new industry moves in weekly.

In the center of this action is Big Canyon, a $60 million luxury community being developed by The Irvine Company where the business executive can live close to both work and recreation.

The 390-acre site is being developed around a new, private Big Canyon Country Club and golf course. The community, which will contain more than 400 dwelling units and home sites, parks and lakes, is close, also, to boating and yachting facilities.

It is, obviously, a community for the affluent. Its single family homes are priced from $75,000 to $100,000. Condominiums will run from $75,000 to $115,000. Custom fairway building lots overlooking the golf course are priced from $35,000 to $75,000 and homes built on these will range to $500,000.

"The premise on which Big Canyon was based is that business executives want to live close to both work and recreation," said Frank Hughes, Irvine vice president in charge of residential development. The premise is sound, Hughes said, is shown by these statistics:

Exotic Backgrounds

Top Old World Business Fortunes

Mr. Marcus Wallenberg and family of Sweden, banking and industry, $5 billion. (Not all personal wealth).

Sir John Ellerman, British shipping, $1.2 billion.

Baron August Finck, Jr., Bavarian land king and industrialist, $1.1 billion.

Aristotle Onassis, Greek shipping, $1 billion.

Stavros Niarchos, Greek shipping, $1 billion.

The Champalimaud family of Portugal, industry, $700 million.

March brothers of Spain, industry, $500 million to $700 million.

George Livanos, Greek shipping, $500 million.

Hilmar Reksten, Norwegian shipping, $500 million.

Friedrich Flick, German steel, $400 million.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Old World does not have as many multimillionaires (in dollars) as the United States and not nearly so many millionaires — but it has a few more billionaires.

The old world super rich frequently are more interesting than their American counterparts because of exotic backgrounds that sometimes are historically significant.

Take Bavaria's Prince Johannes von Thurn und Taxis. His fortune goes back to the beginning of the 16th century when his forebears started the world's first regular mail service between Vienna and Brussels. Or the March brothers of Spain, Bartolome and Juan, sons of a poor swineherd who laid the foundation for an immense fortune by purchasing a schooner and smuggling tobacco across the Mediterranean from Morocco.

It is not so easy to finger the big rich in the Old World as in the United States. Tax records are not so accessible and business disclosure requirements are few. Rich families have been secretive about the extent of their wealth for generations.

Europeans and Asians still follow feudal tradition and keep the wealth in the family.

Difficult to Tell

For this reason, it is difficult to tell how much of the $5 billion empire of the Wallenberg family in Sweden is personal wealth or what stake any of the three brothers and a sister has in the $700 million March empire in Spain.

The Wallenbergs have dominated Swedish banking and industry for 200 years and the family enterprise is considered to be as solid as the massive blocks of granite out of which the main Wallenberg banking house in Stockholm is built. The Wallenbergs control eight of Sweden's 10 largest companies and 72-year-old Dr. Marcus serves personally as chairman of 15 companies.

The Wallenberg enterprises employ 150,000 Swedes at home and 100,000 persons in operations around the world. They include banks, telecommunications, airplane, automobiles (Saab), airlines, iron mines and countless other operations.

Sir John Reeves Ellerman inherited his fortune in 1933. His father, also Sir John, built an empire of shipping, breweries, newspapers and other ventures. The second baronet married Ester de Sola, daughter of a Canadian descendant of a fabulously wealthy Spanish Jewish family. He is a shy recluse and an amateur zoologist, the author of books about rodents.

A socialist enemy of Baron August Finck says the German magazine "Der Spiegel" had to be right in estimating the steel magnate's fortune at $1.1 billion. Otherwise, the Socialist said, Baron Finck would have raised the roof. Now 73, Baron Finck is considered as granitic as he is secretive. The cornerstone of his fortune is 5,000 acres of choice suburban land at Munich, Germany's fastest growing city. This acreage was acquired 100 years ago by his father, Wilhelm, who rose from a humble clerk to joint ownership with his brother of Munich's Merck, Christian Bank now said to be worth $270 million. Finck also owns breweries, insurance companies, railways and electrical factories.

Livanos Inherits Business

Aristotle Onassis and Stavros Niarchos are well known around the world because of their flamboyant style of living. Niarchos' one-time brother-in-law, George Livanos, runs his own fleet of five million tons of shipping from London. Livanos was educated at a prep school in Massachusetts and universities in Greece and England. He inherited the business from his father.

The few business associates close to Livanos say he is a serious, charming man. "I have known him since his Massachusetts schoolboy days," says Greek-American shipowner Thomas Pappas. "George is a great credit to Greece."

Just 103 years ago, a German, Heinrich Sommer, opened a small hardware store in Portugal. He didn't do too well and on his death, the business was inherited by three nephews and a niece. The girl married a French immigrant, Antonio Champalimaud, who turned out to be a brilliant businessman. Using the merger capital of his wife and her brothers, Champalimaud laid the foundation for what is now the biggest fortune in Portugal and one of the largest in Europe. Cement mills were the mother lode of the fortune, but the family also is in banking and various important enterprises in the African colonies of Angola and Mozambique. They built Portugal's first steel mill in 1961 and have vast real estate holdings. Antonio runs the enterprises from Mexico.

He fled Portugal three years ago to avoid prosecution on charges of embezzling family funds of about $1.7 million.

Juan March, the smuggler who died at 31 in 1962, helped finance the revolution that put Gen. Francisco Franco in power in Spain. His sons, who live in secluded palaces on Mallorca and at Madrid and Geneva, control an empire of banks, steel mills, mining, oil, public utilities, airlines, automobiles and tobacco.

Reksten Little Known

Few Americans outside the oil business have heard of Hilmar Reksten, yet the Norwegian tanker magnate operated ships on the Great Lakes in the woodpulp trade as long ago as 1929. Regarded as the boldest gambler in the international tanker business, Reksten cleaned up $600 million in profits between 1967 and 1971 by taking advantage of the series of Middle Eastern crises. He gambles on short charters at high rates instead of long-term charters.

Friedrich Flick is 88. He saw his first fortune destroyed by World War II and then rebuilt it after serving three years in prison as a war criminal for using Hitler's slave labor in his factories. Much of his original empire was located in East Germany and was seized by the Communists. His second financial empire was built in steel mills in Germany, Belgium and France, uranium mining, automobiles, paper mills and chemicals.

Prince Von Thurn und Taxis may belong higher up the list. The aristocrat of Regensburg, Bavaria, told UPI "Anyone who knows how much money he has cannot really be rich. I never admit to more than half a billion marks." (About $165 million).

But opinion in Germany is complex. The prince is worth several times that much. He owns Pirelli and two great landholdings, chemical plants and has vast ranches and other land holdings in Europe, Canada and Brazil. Three other shipping magnates, Minos Colocotronis and Aristomenis Karageorgis of Greece and Norway's Hagbart Waage are in the $200 to $350 million class.

France's Centimillionaires

France has some centimillionaires like aviation magnate Marcel Dassault; Baron Marcel Bich, the ballpen magnate who challenged for the America's Cup, and Antenor Patino, son of the old Bolivian tin king. Simon Denkyoku electrical combine head, paid taxes on income of $4.26 million last year. Nagata Asahi newspapers, now 77, reported an income of $3.37 million, and Konosuke Matsushita, also an electrical magnate, $2.4 million.

(Next: The richest Americans)

Italy can boast Gianni Agnelli, head of the Fiat complex, ship owner Achille Lauro, tire maker Leopoldo Pirelli and two great landholdings, chemical plants and has vast ranches and other land holdings in Europe, Canada and Brazil. Three other shipping mag-today before Special City Judge George A. Beck.

Countryman was accused by police of discharging a .22 caliber rifle on the golf course of the Twaalfskill Club at 250 West O'Reilly Street. Police accused MacQuinn of firing a 12 gauge shotgun on the club grounds on Wednesday.

The guns were confiscated by police along with ammunition pending their court appearance. The information filed against the pair noted that the discharge of the guns endangered men working on the golf grounds.

'Paltz Budget Hearing... Small Crowd, High Figure

By WADE BURKHART

NEW PALTZ
Wednesday's reading and public hearing on the preliminary 1972 budget in New Paltz was attended by a sparse crowd of less than 20 people.

In response to a question from the floor, Supervisor Anthony J. Moriello said the scarcity of town residents at board meetings was a continuing problem, and repeated requests for more people to attend had no result.

The budget, according to Moriello, is actually about $79,000 higher than last year's. The amount to be raised by taxation, including special districts, will be $393,670, $118,362 higher than last year, but increases in state aid and assessed valuation will offset some of this, according to Town Clerk Theodore Lasher. Total proposed appropriations are $543,363.

The biggest increase in the budget is for the police department. The constabulary the Department of Audit and of school taxes, with no compensation this year, including Control sticks. Audit and pension from the school work, was budgeted for $45,000 277 of the Highway Law allows for a large part of his office's in the 1971 budget. The full-time a town to exempt a village from increase to $7600 for 1972.

police force the town will have all snow removal expenses or Straying away from the 1972 for 1972 is budgeted for $89,789, none of them, but not grant a budget, the proposed swim park partial exemption. Village at the Erman Park site was residents received a $20,000 discussed. The town has been $250,000 to develop the park basis, a federal grant of nearly $250,000 to develop the park ing outside the Village of New Paltz will assume Jan. 1 estimated it would cost from Paltz. Moriello said the village by virtue of its more than 10,000 $25-$30,000 to operate the Village residents will have to population, has brought an swimming facility when it pay more for snow removal in additional burden to the town was completed, part of that 1972, if the ruling received by clerk's office. Lasher will now money to be raised by taxation, the town from the State be responsible for the collection and the rest by admissions fees.

Red Hook Board Meeting... Wide Range of Questions

By TIM SCHUSTER

RED HOOK
The Red Hook Town Board Wednesday night adopted its 1972 budget of more than $258,000 following a two-hour public hearing which often bore little relation to the budget.

Besides numerous budget-related questions asked by about 25 persons present there were intense question and answer sessions on the proposed town hall addition; on methods of town bookkeeping; on the zoning law and related boards; and some personal exchanges between several members of the Board and members of the audience.

Supervisor Warren Simmons spent much time explaining the Board's philosophy in investigating the possibility of building the town hall addition, noting that bids are expected by this Friday for several contracts. A similar package offered a year ago was estimated to cost about $35,000.

Simmons said that a bond anticipation of $5,000 is included in the 1972 budget as a precaution, and the Board members hope the cost will fall within "the ballpark."

He said that at present many records are stored in peoples' private homes in boxes, the town clerk's office is in her home, the meeting room is too small for most meetings, and the advent of zoning has forced several boards to share the limited space available.

He added that the professional planning consultant recommended a new town hall be built to the north of the village, but that it was felt the cost would be prohibitive.

Simmons noted that the town property cost $20,000 originally and the expenditure of about $35,000 more should easily be recouped in the event of a new town hall sometime in the future.

On the budget, it was explained that the 1972 budget will reduce town taxes from $22.42 a thousand to about $17.40. This is partially the result of more per capita aid due to the increased population brought to light by the census and partially due to the fact that the amount of money to be raised by taxes is being reduced from $164,000 to about $141,000.

A partial breakdown shows the general fund total to be $93,488.70 with $29,897.70 to be raised by taxes and the highway fund total to be $140,862.74 with $86,960.99 to be raised by taxes.

Included in the new budget are some salary increases. Supervisor will receive $4,000; Justice Fraleigh $4,800 and Justice Trezza $2,800; and the newly appointed assessor $6,600. Resident Robert Bard protested the creation of too much bureaucracy through the zoning law, saying that the Town Board should be entrusted with the work done by Planning and Zoning Board of Appeals. Justice Trezza took issue with this, saying it would amount to a fulltime job.

And Oliver Rider was on the receiving end of Supervisor Simmons' wrath for several innuendos, which broke out in a short-lived shouting match.

The general tenor of the meeting, however, was productive with several members of the Red Hook Taxpayers' Association endeavoring to understand the

Two Picked At Dutchess

POUGHKEEPSIE

Two personnel appointments in Dutchess Community College's continuing education and student affairs offices have been announced by Dr. James F. Hall, president.

Gary C. Pfeifer has assumed duties as assistant dean of continuing education, and Timothy Smith has been appointed assistant director of student affairs.

Pfeifer joined the college staff in 1968 and served as a counselor and assistant and associate director of student affairs until his new assignment.

He will now be responsible for assisting in program planning for the college's extensive continuing education program.

Smith most recently served as a U.S. Navy officer with special duties in education. In his new position, he will be responsible for personal and academic counseling.

The Other Day

Michael Leopold

A friend was telling us where the term "By hook or by crook," came from. It seems to have originated with men who went into the forests in olden times for fire wood. Forestry experts say this is how it came about: In ancient times peasants were forbidden to cut trees for fire wood for the cooking and heating, but they were permitted to take all the limbs they could get by hook or crook. (The pruning hook and shepherd's crook.) Well, without hook or crook you'll get wonderful satisfaction and value from us!

Gasoline From Animal Wastes Is Remote Future Possibility

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — In the year 2,000 a motorist will pull up to a service station and an attendant may fill his tank with gasoline produced from animal wastes.

The possibility is not remote. Scientists at the U.S. Bureau of Mines' Energy Research Center here have developed a process to convert wastes into oil.

The development could not have been more timely as the nation's waste disposal problem grows more acute and its energy supply deteriorates. The bureau reports animal wastes total nearly two billion tons a year, about eight times greater than the 250 million tons of household, commercial and municipal solid waste.

Dr. G. Alex Mills, chief of the bureau's division of coal, said the project of converting wastes into oil actually began while attempts were made to convert coal into oil. Dr. Herbert R. Appell, working with Dr. Irvin G. Wender, discovered urban wastes, or garbage, could be converted into oil.

"We began working on the process nearly three years ago," Dr. Appell said. "We were successful when we converted urban refuse into oil. In another five years we hope the process will be perfected. We hope to convert animal wastes into oil at great volume."

"When we get this thing going, we'll have oil from refuse that will make a significant contribution to solving the energy shortages," Appell said. Studies showed carbohydrates in general can be converted into oil. The process is simple. Manure or any cellulosic waste is dumped into a reaction vessel with carbon monoxide at an initial pressure of 1,200 pounds per square inch and heated at 720 degrees Fahrenheit for 20 minutes. Then crude oil trickles out of the vessel.

It is like turning the clock forward on nature. In 20 minutes science accomplishes what it took nature millions of years to do with prehistoric organic material.

Dr. Appell said two tons of dry manure can produce about a ton of crude oil and an equal amount of water.

Dutchess Rehab Program Sets Monthly Record

POUGHKEEPSIE — Rehabilitation Programs Work Training Center has set a new monthly record in aiding the mentally and multiply handicapped of Dutchess County, it was announced this week by Samuel J. Iannone, president.

The 230 North Road facility serves as a training center for young adults and adults, and it would appear that the Work Center may also be heading for a record year of service for the handicapped.

The Center enrolled 11 new trainees for the month and finished the month with eight handicapped individuals, most of whom are now working in fulltime employment in Dutchess County.

The Center is now serving 84 individuals on a daily basis in the areas of furniture refinishing, caning and rushing, laundry trades, restaurant cafeteria work, and general institutional cleaning and porter trades.

Families who may have a handicapped young adult or an adult whom they desire information relative to work center training possibilities may phone Joseph Groppenbacher, Work Center Coordinator, at 485-9805 from noon to 4 p.m.

Rehabilitation Programs, Inc. is a Dutchess County United Way sponsored organization.

Fischer to Prosecute Attica Cases

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — State designated Fischer—often dubbed the state's "supercop"—to fill the role.

Fischer is head of the State-wide Task Force on Organized Crime. Rockefeller's office said continuity of the Attica investigation would be assured by having Fischer handle any presentations to a grand jury.

Fall-Winter Artists' Exhibitions Being Held at Ulster Town Library

"Some's good, more's better," or so the folks at the Town of Ulster Library believe. Last Summer's Art Show was such a success that it has been extended into monthly segments for the fall and winter seasons.

The new exhibition program went into effect last month when Wayne Sittner of Kingston, last summer's first prize winner, exhibited a number of his unusual paintings within the library. During the month of November, Christie and Christopher Medved of Woodstock, will be displaying and offering for sale, samples of her scratchboard drawings and his oils. Christie won the second prize award during the 1971 summer outdoor show; she is secretary as well as an executive board member of the Woodstock Artists Association. The Medveds have exhibited their works widely in the Ulster area: The Lions Club Exhibition, Saugerties Mum Festival, Hudson Valley Pen drawings, woodcuts, watercolor and acrylic paintings. This exhibition will be an interesting contrast to the works of the three previously mentioned artists. Mrs. Schoonmaker won an honorable mention in the library's show this summer and also exhibited in Saugerties and Woodstock. Ron Hicinbotham, New Paltz illustrator, has agreed to take over the library's artistic decor for January 1972. Ron was also an Honorable Mention in the library's last art show. He works in acrylics and has exhibited at the McQuade Home for Boys for the past three years; the Newburgh Savings Bank; the First National Bank of Highland; Delano's Gallery in Kingston and the 1971 Saugerties Mum Festival.

Mrs. Judi Brenner, also of New Paltz, will co-exhibit during January with a selection of her oils and watercolors. Mrs. Brenner, too, has done the circuit of exhibits in Ellenville, Saugerties and Manor Lake during 1970.

The library "gallery" is available to all the other artists who were registered in the 1971 summer outdoor art show, and they may request time February through June 1972 individually, or as a group, by contacting Mrs. William J. East, RD1, Box 378A, Kingston.

SOMETHING BIG AHEAD — Actress Ginger Rogers has made 73 movies, starred in "Hello Dolly" on Broadway and just completed touring in "Coco." Miss Rogers, speaking on a variety of subjects in New York recently, feels, "There's something really big ahead. When that happens we all are going to learn that we're all God's children." ## Small Farming Town in India Devastated by Cyclone, Tidal Wave BHADRAK, India (AP) — In the best of times, life is not prosperous in this small farming town on the coastal plain about 20 miles from the Bay of Bengal.

Today it is hell. Last Friday afternoon, storm clouds moved in from the coast. By Monday, a cyclone and the wash of a tidal wave had swept over Bhadrak and most of the coastal region of the east-central state of Orissa.

The latest official estimate of deaths is 6,000 in the state, but this is expected to rise much higher when reports are received from areas that are still isolated.

Because Bhadrak is not on the coast, it escaped the brunt of the tidal wave, and only 20 of its 7,000 people are known to have died. But the destruction of their mud and bamboo huts and the crop loss on the surrounding rice farms is a major tragedy for these farm laborers with little or no money and no prospect of getting any.

Sambhu Shau, owner of a small business, said that as the storm clouds built up Friday afternoon, the winds got stronger and stronger.

"The winds were so strong at one point that it was impossible for anyone to stand up without grabbing or holding on to something. By evening, tree tops were touching the ground and the roofs of many houses had blown away."

People frantically threw straw mats or anything they could get their hands on—onto the roofs of their houses in an attempt to keep them from being blown away.

"But nothing was of much help," Shau continued. "People were so frightened. Women and children were crying. It seemed as though that night the whole town was crying."

Mrs. Sitala Roy, a middle-aged woman who came to a makeshift stand to buy some rice for her family, said the winds swept away her small house "in only a few minutes."

"Then, after the cyclone came, the flood waters came and swept away everything that was left of my house," the woman added, sobbing.

The winds swept rivers of raging water through Bhadrak's streets.

Trees are strewn about like matchsticks.

One of the biggest buildings in the bazaar district was split in half when a giant banyan tree fell across it.

Water is knee deep in most of the village. Health officials are concerned that as it slowly recedes, cholera will follow.

New Paltz LWV Launches Finance Drive

During this month, the New Paltz League of Women Voters will conduct its annual money raising campaign.

For many years, the non-partisan League has played a vital and important role in the New Paltz community.

Through its open monthly meetings and workshop programs, it has informed and educated the public on key local, national and international issues. Both as a group and as individuals, the League has kept in close touch with appointed and elected officials.

This year, at election time, the League in cooperation with the New Paltz branch of the American Association of University Women, the New Paltz Homeowners' Association and the Springtown Community Association held a Candidates' Night. All candidates for local and county office were invited to air their views at a public meeting. The League also distributed more than 5,000 copies of "Facts for Voters."

Another League publication, "When You Need Help" has been prepared by the Human Resources workshop. It lists all the agencies (public and private) and the services available in the community in a convenient Directory form. Copies may be had upon request.

Still other services provided by the League include speakers and programs for other organizations like the Chamber of Commerce and the Rotary Club.

For School Board elections, the New Paltz League members serve as election workers and checkers.

Seeking new and imaginative ways to inform voters, the League observer teams have been making a survey, on a nationwide basis, of voter registration and voting practices.

To provide all these services take money. During the Finance Drive, it is hoped there will be a generous response to the League appeal letter or to a personal visit from a member of the Finance Committee. Checks may be mailed directly to Post Office Box 416, New Paltz, New York 12561 and should be made payable to the League of Women Voters.

Mrs. William Connors, vice president of the League, and Mrs. Herbert Uriel are coordinating the Fund Raising Drive.

ROBERT SCHNELLER of Kingston cuts a wedge of imported English Cheddar in preparation for the upcoming Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society Wine and Cheese Tasting Party. Schneller will again host the occasion, for the sixth time. The gala event will take place on Sunday, Nov. 14 at 5 p. m. in the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel. According to a Philharmonic press release, English Cheddar Cheese is the original cheese and is only now being imported into this country in any sizable quantity. It is reported that the American Dairy Association lobby was successful in limiting the importation of English Cheddar over the past 30 years. In addition to the cheese at the Wine and Cheese Tasting Party, there will be music and an art exhibit. Tickets to the fund raising event to benefit the Philharmonic may be obtained from any Philharmonic volunteer or at Rafalowsky's in Kingston. (Freeman photo by Haines).

Fashion Show Highlights B'nai B'rith Women's Meeting

A display of glamour highlighted the October 21 meeting of Zephaniah Chapter No. 539, B'nai B'rith Women, which took place at Congregation Ahavath Israel, Kingston. A fashion show coordinated by Mrs. Arnold Goldschlag and Mrs. Stanley Austin was presented. Apparel was provided by Fashion Town and jewelry by Rings and Things by Linda. Mrs. Seymour Semilof was narrator. Models included the Mmes. Morton Cohen, Stanley Austin, Burton Reit, Charles Johnson, Harry Simon and David Weinstein. Mrs. Henry Singer provided piano selections.

Mrs. David Weinstein welcomed several new members into the Chapter: the Mmes. Allan Cohen, B. Conn; William Freer, Robert Goldstein, N. J. Mannino, Nathan Sheib, and Robert Weber.

Mrs. Weinstein, vice president, reported that two "Dolls for Democracy" programs were presented recently for the students in Pine Plains Central Schools. The program was coordinated by Mrs. John Buchal of Pine Plains Parent-Teachers Organization and Mrs. Edwin Kalish, representing B'nai B'rith Women. Participating were the Mmes. William Caffin, Samuel Feldman, Abe Meisner, Henry Singer, David Weinstein and Seymour Werbalowsky. Mrs. Singer also provided piano accompaniment.

Mrs. Massie Mehl, vice president, reported on the success of the recent rummage sale and expressed appreciation to her co-workers: the Mmes. Richard Adin, David H. Gally, Betty Streifer, Ben Werbalowsky, Burton Feit and Charles Johnson.

Mrs. Bernhardt S. Kramer presided at the meeting. The opening prayer was led by Mrs. Harry Schectman. Mrs. Charles Gersh and Mrs. Marvin Schildhorn served as the hostess committee.

Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Of The Emily Post Institute

HERE IS THE letter chosen as the prize-winner this week. A copy of Emily Post's "Etiquette" has been sent to the writer who asked that her name be withheld.

DEAR MRS. POST: This is a question I have waited to see in your column. Should a guest staying in your home or someone visiting for a few minutes, who happens to be sitting by the phone answer it? This has happened to me time and time again.

Recently my son's mother-in-law answered my phone, and it was a long distance call from my daughter. She continued to talk as if the call was made to her. She kept answering all of my calls so that I said to myself "This is a phone hog." I would like to have your opinion on this matter.

MRS. T.

DEAR MRS. T.: Only when you ask them to should a guest in your home answer the phone. Otherwise it is an invasion of your privacy; the call would not conceivably be for the guest. It is compounding the error if the guest, recognizing the caller, monopolizes the phone.

Visitors who are good friends often offer to help in many ways—"May I help you set the table?" "Can I peel the carrots for you?" or whatever. They might also, if the hostess was busy when the phone rings, offer to answer it. But to pick the phone up without so much as a "Would you like me to answer?" gives the appearance, at least of snooping.

Whether you are a teen-teenager or a parent with young people in the family, you will find the suggestions "Etiquette" Tips for Teenagers" helpful and useful. To get a copy, send thirty-five cents to cover booklet and mailing expenses to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of The Daily Freeman.

Distaff Digest

Snow Film Saturday

A presentation of Warren Miller's film, "Any Snow, Any Mountain," will be given Saturday at Kingston High School auditorium at 8 p.m.

Sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary to the Kingston Uniformed Fire Fighters, this will be an exclusive one-time showing of the film in this area.

Numerous awards from various ski resorts will be presented. These will include skiing lessons, season's ticket and awards from resorts in Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Vermont, and Canada, as well as local ski areas.

The public is invited to "kick off" the snow and ski season on Saturday at the film.

Legion Auxiliary News

The American Legion Auxiliary, Unit 72, of Lamouree-Hackett Post, Saugerties, will observe the traditional date of November 11 as Veterans Day with the laying of the wreaths at the Soldiers Monument in front of the Town Hall at 11 a.m. that day. The decision to keep this date, rather than the new date of October 25, was decided at the meeting of the American Legion member at its meeting in October and the auxiliary will join the post members for the ceremonies in honoring those who have given their lives for their country.

Members of the auxiliary are also reminded that the regular monthly meeting will be held that night at 8 p.m. in the Post Home. All members are asked to make a special effort to attend, and bring a potential member as a guest. A social hour always follows the business meeting.

Jewelry Fashions

Columbiettes of Kingston Council No. 275, Knights of Columbus, will sponsor a Jewelry Party-Fashion Show on Saturday at the K of C. Hall on Broadway at 7 p.m. Games will be played, refreshments served and awards presented. The public is invited to attend and tickets may be obtained at the door.

The Columbiettes are active participants in their community, contributing to the aged and the infirm. They make cancer pads and Johnny coats, supply holiday gifts and birthday cakes, and are best known for their Transcription Program for the Blind. The large type textbooks enable many children to continue in their neighborhood schools. The three dimensional books, also made by the Columbiettes, help the retarded child as well as the blind.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD K. FOX of Kingston celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary recently at Elmer's Inn in Ruby. Married Oct. 22, 1946 at Stanford, Conn., Mrs. Fox is the former Beatrice Pestel of Brooklyn. Mr. and Mrs. Fox are the parents of four children: Mrs. James (Margaret) Lanier of New York City; Kathleen Fox, Anna May Rader of Kingston and Richard Fox III of Manhattan. They also have two grandchildren. Mrs. Fox, a member of the Board of Elections of Ward Eight, is employed at Raynett Inc. of Kingston. Her husband, a member of Veterans of Foreign Wars, Delaware Avenue, Kingston, and 418 Masonic Blue Lodge, Manhattan, is employed at Bronx Towing Lines in New York. Relatives and friends attended the gala. (Dutchmen Enterprises).

Music, Theatre, Dance, Film at Vassar

Vassar College will present Earl Kim's "Exercise en route" in Avery Hall at 8:30 p.m., Monday, Nov. 8. This is an experimental work that combines music, theatre, dance and film to illuminate texts by Samuel Beckett.

"Exercise en route" is the Dickinson-Kayden Event for 1971, provided by a fund established by Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Kayden of Irvington-on-Hudson, N.Y. in honor of the late George Sherman Dickinson, professor of music at Vassar for thirty-seven years.

The production features the internationally known soprano, Benita Valente, as well as principals of the Boston Ballet Company, a small company of actors and an ensemble of strings, winds and percussion. Choreography is by Mimi Kagan, who is also soloist and co-director with Earl Kim.

Mr. Kim studied composition with Arnold Schoenberg and Roger Sessions. He has received the Prix de Paris and the National Institute of Arts and Letters awards, grants from the Guggenheim and Ingram-Merrill Foundations, commissions from the Fromm and Koussevitzky Foundations, and the Brandeis Gold Medal Creative Arts Award. Mr. Kim, who will conduct his own work, is James Edward Ditson Professor of music at Harvard University.

"Exercise en route" was premiered in Cambridge, Mass. in January, 1971, to an extremely favorable critical response. George Gelles of the Washington Star wrote: "Exercise" is a work of keen poetic insights and uncommon musical eloquence... it is a magnificent achievement."

Tickets for the Vassar performance may be obtained in advance without charge from the departments of music or drama.

The Convent: Crisis or Change?

Those Who Stay in the Convent Find New Purpose

(Last in a Series)

By HELEN HENNESSY

NEA Women's Editor
NEW YORK—(NEA)—You can never tell where you'll find nuns these days. The old image of the peaceful contemplative, praying away the hours behind the cloister grille is a far cry from reality in most communities today.

Take Sister Susan and Sister Mary Michael who are teachers at St. Barnabas school in Northfield, Ohio. Weekends they're students at a beauty school. The two Vincentian Sisters of Charity intend to take the state exams and become licensed cosmeticians. They want to volunteer their talents to women in nursing homes. "And, too," Sister Susan says, "nuns have become more hair-conscious since the modified veils show some hair." And she allows as how a nun-beautician in a convent sure would be helpful. These women lead a busy, useful, happy life in religion.

Then there is 69-year-old

Sister Ann Joachim, a Dominican from Adrian, Michigan. From her present activities one would never believe convent life to be inhibiting. Once an airplane pilot and the youngest woman lawyer in the U.S. before she became a nun, Sister Ann Joachim now is a leading candidate for election to the Adrian City Commission. Last year she toured the Soviet Union for two weeks. Her campaign is based on her promise to work actively for civil rights in racial housing and employment problem areas.

There topples another image of the demure, calm, contemplative nun. When she joined the Sisters of St. Dominic in 1928, she became their legal counsel. And in 1936 she was admitted to practice before the U.S. Supreme Court.

Sister Mary Denise Donovan of the Congregation of St. Joseph in Ohio is another happy nun who is making a considerable contribution to children and their parents in her helpful "Parents and the First Grade," a book which makes it possible for parents to understand the new methods of teaching. The book, published by Dillon-Liederbach of Lakewood, Ohio, is the beginning of a series that will permit parents to help their children with their school work and not have the youngsters feeling that "Mommy and Daddy don't do it the way the teacher does in school."

Sister Helen Therese of the Sisters of Precious Blood is a cloistered nun. Is she discontented in her chosen lot? Not a bit. She won an essay contest in Home and Garden Magazine. Her contribution, "My Dream Garden," won her $90 worth of nursery stock.

"I got dwarf trees and a female American holly," she said, smiling. "I have a Chinese male holly and an English female. I just said to my American holly, 'Get in there and show those two foreigners how to produce.'"

She says she never doubts her vocation but what she misses most is singing "Give me a mop or a dust cloth and I'll burst into song."

Sister Paschal of the Franciscan Sisters of Ringwood, N.J., came to lunch at New York's Roosevelt Hotel to talk about her feelings on religious life.

"One of the sisters in my convent in Brooklyn," she said with a grin, "told me that when asked why I don't leave the convent I should simply tell you that I'm a nut."

Sister Paschal is a teacher and a talented musician. But she has had to take a break from teaching for awhile because she has a serious heart condition—one that involved open heart surgery.

"I love my religious life," she said. "I love my community. Our order has had its difficulties, too," she admitted. When the Vatican II renewal first came in in 1967, several of our sisters left—about 25.

"I think I am fortunate even in my illness," said this nun who entered the convent at 22 and has been a nun for an additional 22 years. "It gave me strength. I think the word 'support' is very important in religious life. We support one another as a community and we also support one another in our prayers."

To talk with Sister Paschal you wouldn't think she had a worry in the world, much less a bad heart.

"I love to cook," she said. "And because my health made it necessary to give up teaching for awhile, by my own choice I cook for them all on Weight Watchers. I even give them their lunch to take to school so that they stay on the diet."

Sister Paschal believes that her order succeeded in keeping in touch with the world outside, too, because they didn't go too far too fast with the freedom that resulted from renewal. "We didn't even discuss the habit at first," she said. "Some of our sisters are still wearing the long habit. But we can do as we please."

Some ex-nuns said they felt the habit was a barrier between them and the people they were trying to help. Sister Paschal's reaction was a merry, "Nothing's a barrier when you talk as much as I do. No one even notices what I'm wearing."

She believes that the breaking down of all strict barriers made many women leave the convent. They didn't like the change.

"Still," she added, "some of our young ones think we are not doing enough. The middle-aged ones think we're going too fast."

Other nuns feel that the revolution is not against the idea of religious life but against its structures.

"What we are coping with," said one nun, "is our own propaganda. Those professionally religious people are the ones who give Our Lord the trouble. To call ourselves religious, for instance, isn't that implying that everyone else is not?"

Well, the number of nuns may be declining but it seems a safe observation that all is not hopeless—especially since practically all quality generously spread among those who have stayed in the convent.

For one example, we can go back to our cloistered Sister Helen Therese.

"If I had my choice of two postulants," she said, quoting 16th Century Sister Teresa of Avila, "one of whom had a great deal of piety and not much sense and the other of whom had a great deal of sense and not much piety, I would choose the one with the common sense and train her to be pious. God help the community that takes in these pious women who have NO sense."

An attitude like that ought to keep the battle flags flying on the distaff side of Peter's Church and keep the convents thriving for a long time to come.

Medical Staff Urges Dinner Support

Ellenville Community Hospital's medical staff is urging all business and professional people in the hospital service area to show support for the hospital by attendance at the Nov. 21 dinner-dance at the Homowack Lodge.

Dr. Irving Feinberg, president of the staff, expressed the appeal for the doctors, noting the "gratifying expansion of hospital facilities in recent years—and the corresponding increase in medical services."

"The importance of community support in providing funds for new hospital equipment cannot be overestimated," Dr. Feinberg stated. "The new cardiac monitoring equipment secured with last year's dinner proceeds has already benefited many in the community. Last year we completed our first full year of radioisotope scanning with 200 procedures instrumental in pin-pointing diagnoses quickly and directly."

"The tools of modern medicine are unfortunately expensive in terms of dollar costs. The benefits they provide are inestimable. Because the hospital is a not-for-profit institution, it must depend on the generosity of the community if it is to continue to add new equipment and provide new services."

"While we certainly hope that all who can afford it will subscribe to the $100 a couple event," Dr. Feinberg said, "we are especially anxious to have a wide representation from the business and professional community this year."

Secretary Shouldn't Censor Mail

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
N. Y. News Synd., Inc. © 1971 by Chicago Tribune

DEAR ABBY: I am a secretary and one of my duties is to open my boss's mail. The past few months he has been getting some pornographic advertisements. I didn't examine this material very closely, I just destroyed it. On a few occasions he has asked me if that was "all" the mail there was, and I have said yes.

I'm wondering if I should continue to destroy this disgusting material, or should I get my courage up and give it to him?

You may want to use this in your column since other secretaries must run into the same problem, but if you do, please sign me "WONDERING IF" without disclosing my name or town because if my boss sees this, I won't have to wonder anymore.

WONDERING IF"

DEAR WONDERING: ALL mail addressed to your boss should be handed over to him. For you to act as a self-appointed censor is both presumptuous and illegal. And if he's been anticipating some of the mail you destroyed, and finds out that you intercepted it, you could be IN trouble and OUT of a job.

DEAR ABBY: I am a lonely widow. Several years ago, when I was teaching school in another city, I met a handsome, retired military officer. He was a wonderful dancer, good company, and always a perfect gentleman.

On our third date I said, "I make a good salary as a teacher. How much do you get in the way of retirement pay?"

He never asked me for another date. What did I do wrong?

ETHEL IN SAN DIEGO

DEAR ETHEL: You asked him a question with a "ring" in it, for which he was not ready.

Besides, I've ironed and mended his clothes on occasion, and have had him over for meals, so I think I've reciprocated. I told him that a gentleman should not even mention the cost of phone calls to a lady.

Anyway, that incident has come between us. I said I had never heard of such a thing. He said it's being done by other people. What do you think of a boy asking a girl to call him back to save on the toll charge?

JUST ASKING

DEAR JUST: It depends upon how much money each party has, and the relationship between them.

DEAR ABBY: My husband lies so much he actually believes his own lies! It is so embarrassing to me and the children.

I told him he needed to see a head doctor, but he thinks everyone should see one but him. Is there any hope for him? He's only 49. Maybe you can reach him. I've given up.

LIAR'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: One who confuses facts with fantasies is out of touch with reality, which is a condition, not a moral deficiency.

There is indeed hope for your "49er" if he admits he needs help and is willing to seek it.

(Hear Dear Abby Mon. thru Sat. at 9:25 a.m. WKNY-1490)

SPAGHETTI SUPPER — A popular autumn social and fund raising event is being sponsored once again by the John A. Coleman Parents' Association. It is the annual spaghetti supper to be held Sunday, Nov. 7 from 3 to 6 p. m. at Coleman High School cafeteria. As in previous years, Raymond Prusak, pictured above, will be chef-in-charge. Mrs. John Sangaline (L) is ticket chairman assisted by Mrs. Anthony Albany. A committee of parents and students will serve. The menu will include spaghetti and meatballs, salad with Italian dressing, garlic bread, beverage and dessert. The public is invited and reservations are not necessary. All proceeds will benefit the students of Coleman High School. Helping with the arrangements are Miss Clare Barret and James Cranston. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

AAUW Bus Trip to New York

The New Paltz Branch of the American Association of University Women will sponsor a bus trip to New York City on Saturday, Nov. 20th. The purpose is to benefit the Fellowship Fund. Everyone is welcome.

The bus will leave at 8 a.m. from the parking lot at the rear of the College Union Building in New Paltz and arrive in New York City before 10 a.m. It will depart from New York City at 6 p.m., sharp!

Seats will be reserved on a first come, first served basis. The cost will be approximately one half the regular fare from New Paltz to New York City. After a seat has been reserved and money paid, there will be no refunds. However, someone else may go in that place.

Checks should be made payable to New Paltz Branch.

AAUW, and mailed to Mrs. Douglas Sheppard, AAUW Fellowship Chairman, 15 Tricor Avenue, New Paltz.

Travelers are urged to take in a Broadway show, go on a sightseeing tour, or get that Christmas shopping done early before the rush starts in December, have a great day in New York City, save money on the bus fare, and help the New Paltz AAUW build its Fellowship Fund as well. One dollar of each fare will go to provide graduate Fellowships for worthy students.

For further information or to reserve a seat, contact Mrs. Douglas Sheppard, New Paltz.

Organ Recital Sunday

An organ recital will be given by Phyllis Pinto on Sunday, Nov. 7 at 4 p.m. at Grace Church, Millbrook. This will be the first recital of the season on the 1969 Beckerath Organ. The public is invited to attend.

Mrs. Pinto is a native of Calgary, Alberta, Canada, and studied at the University of Alberta and University of Toronto before coming to New York where she was assistant to Ernest White at the church of St. Mary the Virgin. She was later organist and choir-master at the Chapel of the Incarnation, New York. For the last seven years, she has been organist and director of St. Stephens Church, Armonk. She lives in Hartsdale with her husband, an attorney in New York, and her two children.

BONING UP — Earl Lloyd, a former Detroit Pistons forward, bones up on his new team after being appointed the new Pistons coach Wednesday. He replaces Bill Van Vreda Kolff, who resigned and is ninth coach of Pistons since NBA team moved to Detroit 13 years ago. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Pro Tennis Hits Jackpot

NEW YORK (UPI) — Lamar Hunt believes he has achieved the first major breakthrough for professional tennis on television.

The Texas millionaire announced an agreement with the National Broadcasting Company Wednesday for a TV package of eight of Hunt's World Championship Tennis tournament finals live next spring.

On eight Sundays — starting on Feb. 20 and winding up on May 14 — NBC will show the pro tennis finals in competition with pro basketball on ABC and hockey on CBS.

Carl Lundemann, Jr., vice president of the National Broadcasting Company, who worked closely with Hunt when an NBC contract helped spur the success of the American Football League, said the TV contract was a major breakthrough for tennis. He said he thought tennis would compete in the ratings with basketball and hockey. In the past, basketball has beaten hockey by a wide margin in TV ratings.

Hunt currently has 34 players under contract including Rod Laver, Ken Rosewall, Tom Okker, John Newcombe, Arthur Ashe and Cliff Drysdale.

Laver the current top man in the WCT series, and its leading money winner with $255,517. Of that total, however, $160,000 was won in the Tennis Champions Classic in which Laver won 13 straight winner-take-all matches. WCT announced the Classic is not in its plans for 1972 because no agreement has been reached with Fred J. Podesta, who sponsored the event in 1970 and 1971. Podesta had no comment.

Hunt said NBC paid a "substantial rights fee for the tournaments." The contract covers only 1972 but options run for three years.

The WCT series constitutes 20 tournaments, each bearing $50,000 in prize money, and the players in Hunt's group compete for money and points. The top eight in points enter the final rounds, worth $100,000 — and in the final match first prize is $50,000 — the richest in the sport.

Hayes Walks and Knicks Romp

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Elvin Hayes, Houston's reluctant center, staged another walkout while the New York Knicks staged a walkaway victory over the Rockets, but this time it apparently had nothing to do with his dispute with Coach Tex Winter.

Hayes, who had refused to go into a game as a substitute last Sunday, failed to show up for a voluntary workout Monday and a mandatory practice session Tuesday drawing the wrath of Winter. He then begged out of Wednesday night's contest, complaining of a stomach ailment.

He did not return to the National Basketball Association game after leaving midway in the third period. Before departing, the usually high-scoring Hayes netted only one field goal in each half, as the Knicks romped to a 117-98 victory.

Elsewhere in the NBA, Phoenix edged Buffalo 100-98, Cincinnati trounced Philadelphia 124-100, and Chicago downed Atlanta 113-100.

Earlier Wednesday, Hayes met with Winter and the Rockets' management in an effort to resolve their differences.

"Elvin wanted and received an opportunity to air his views," said Larry Kartigner, Hayes' attorney. "He wanted to ask some questions and he received answers. Everybody is happy now. Everybody understands each other and we're going to try to win the ball game."

The Rockets—and Hayes—tried, but they couldn't avert their ninth loss in 11 games. With Walt Frazier firing his points, Jerry Lucas hinging his first seven shots from the field and finishing with 21 points and Bill Bradley adding 20 points, the Knicks were in complete command. Rudy Tomjanovich paced the Rockets with 26 points.

A goaltending call against Buffalo's seven-foot Elmore Smith on a layup attempt by Dick Van Arsdale with 24 seconds left enabled Phoenix to break a 96-96 tie with the Braves. Then, with eight seconds remaining, Van Arsdale sealed the victory with two free throws. He topped all scorers with 31 points. Bob Kauffman was high for Buffalo with 24 points.

Van Arsdale's brother, Tom, pumped in 32 points and grabbed 13 rebounds, helping Cincinnati break a six-game losing streak with its victory over Philadelphia. Mait Guokas, making his first start for the Royals in backcourt, directed the attack with 14 assists and 14 points, while ageless Johnny Green added 28 points.

Fred Foster paced the 76ers with 29 points.

Chet Walker scored 16 of his 23 points in the third quarter and Bob Love collected 11 of his 19 as Chicago overcame a 46-45 Atlanta halftime lead and beat the Hawks. Bob Weiss was high for the Bulls with 27 points. The Hawks' Lou Hudson took game honors with 32 points.

Rangers Bomb Kings, 7-1

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — The Los Angeles Kings will probably be glad to get out of town.

They lost their fifth in a row Wednesday night when the New York Rangers bombed them 7-1.

The Rangers have a nine-game unbeaten string (6-0-3) and hold a two-point edge over Montreal in the National Hockey League's Eastern Division.

The Kings have the worst record in the NHL—2-9-1.

They close out as a six-game homestand Saturday night against Toronto.

Surprisingly, the Kings got off to a 1-0 lead over the Rangers in the first period. Ralph Backstrom got the goal 10:40 but the Rangers got the equalizer at 2:34 when Ted Irvine, a former King, whacked the puck into the net.

Irvine got another goal at 2:47 of the third period and also had an assist in the second period when Bruce MacGregor got the go-ahead score on a tap-in.

MacGregor had two assists while Vic Hadfield and Brad Park got the other Ranger goals.

There was a flurry of fisticuffs in the third period when Ross Lonsberry challenged Ranger Rod Seiling. They both went to the penalty box and when Hadfield tried to join in the brawl he was given a game misconduct.

The Kings' new coach, Fred Glover (0-2) said, "We made a couple of mistakes at the end of the first period and the tide began to turn. New York just took over from there on out.

We skated as well as any team could in the first period."

In other NHL action, Big Frank Mahovlich for whom the late Jim Norris of the Chicago Black Hawks reportedly offered a million dollars nine years ago, blasted his 13th goal of the season to help the Montreal Canadiens beat the St. Louis Blues, 5-1.

The Black Hawks blanked the Philadelphia Flyers, 3-0, and the California Golden Seals overcame the Pittsburgh Penguins, 5-3.

Mahovlich, who now has 434 career goals, is off to the second fastest start of any player in modern NHL history. Bobby Hull of Chicago had 14 goals in his first 10 games of the 1966 season compared to Mahovlich's 13 in 11.

At the rate he is going, Mahovlich may become the first NHL player to hold goal-scoring records with three different teams. He holds the mark of 48 for Toronto, the team he was with at the time of the reported million dollar offer. He shares the mark of 49 for Detroit with Gordie Howe.

The Montreal club record is 50 shared by Maurice Richard and Bernie Geoffrion.

Mahovlich's 13th goal came on a play he started. He banked a shot off the boards to the left of St. Louis goalie Ernie Wakely. The puck came out to Jacques Lemaire, who faked a shot and passed to Mahovlich. The big winger poked it home into a wide-open net.

Lemaire later scored himself and added two assists as the Canadiens spoiled the coaching debut of Bill McCreary of the Blues.

The victory kept the Canadiens two points back of first place New York in the East Division.

Playing at home after a seven-game road trip, Chicago goalie Gary Smith recorded his first shutout of the campaign in turning back Philadelphia. The victory kept the first-place Black Hawks two points ahead of Minnesota in the West Division.

The North Stars edged the Maple Leafs on Lou Nanne's power play goal early in the third period.

Michigan State and Alabama Key Picks

By United Press International
Coach Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State, a man whose always quick with a funny line, will get the last laugh on Coach Woody Hayes of Ohio State this Saturday when the two Big Ten powers tangle at Columbus, Ohio.

That's the opinion of our Midwest regional expert who picks the Spartans to beat the once-beaten Buckeyes by 10 points in the Conference's first major upset of the season. Michigan State, which has only a 4-4 record, socked it to Purdue a week ago behind the 350-yard rushing performance of Eric Allen, and our man figures the Spartans will present the same kind of trouble for the eighth-ranked Buckeyes.

Among the remainder of the top 10 only fourth-ranked Alabama is expected to have a tough time Saturday. The Crimson Tide journey to Baton Rouge, La., to play 18th-ranked Louisiana State in a crucial Southeastern Conference game. Our Southern expert likes Alabama but by less than a touchdown. The East

The East
Notre Dame 17 Pittsburgh 7—Irish defense pulls out another one.
Penn St. 40 Maryland 6—A mismatch from the opening kickoff.
Boston College 17 Syracuse 14—Orangeturn upset for second straight week.

Harvard, Villanova 14 over Boston U., Holy Cross 10 over Massachusetts, Colgate 16 over Bucknell, Delaware 15 over Lehigh.

The Midwest
Illinois 33 Indiana 14—Look out for the Illini—next year.
Michigan 55 Iowa 7—Look out for Michigan, right now.

Michigan State 24 Ohio State 14—Big Ten's upset of the year.
Minnesota 21 Northwestern 17—The Gophers can squeak through once.
Purdue 24 Wisconsin 21—Boilermakers got to rebound sometime.

Also—North Texas State seven over Cincinnati; Dayton seven over Xavier; Kent State three over Marshall. Western Michigan 10 over Miami, Toledo 17 over Northern Illinois, Drake 14 over Southern Illinois.

The South
Alabama 21 Louisiana St. 17—Crimson Tide faces toughest test in a bid for fourth perfect season in 11 years.

North Carolina 14 Clemson 7—Tar Heels another step near first Atlantic Coast Conference grid crown since 1963.

Georgia 31 Florida 14—Bulldog running attack more than offsets John Reeves' passing.
Auburn 35 Mississippi St. 7—Pat Sullivan continues bid for second straight top offense crown.

Also—Vanderbilt one over Kentucky, Mississippi 15 over Tampa, Tennessee six over South Carolina, Duke three over West Virginia, Miami (Fla.) 20 over North Carolina St., Virginia Tech six over Virginia, Wake Forest two over William Oklahoma 55 Missouri 14—The score in this one will be whatever Chuck Fairbanks decides he wants it to be.

Colorado 42 Kansas 20—Buffaloes find moving the ball on the Jayhawks quite a bit easier than it was against Nebraska.

Oklahoma State 16 Kansas State 13—Cowboys' defense will make the difference.

The Southwest
Texas 35 Baylor 6—Darrell Royal won't let the Longhorns forget last year's near disaster against the Bears.

Texas Christian 20 Texas Tech 8—Horned Frogs suddenly find themselves with a chance at the Southwest Conference title and will be giving it their best effort in memory of Coach Jim Pittman.

Southern Methodist 16 Texas A&M 13—Mustangs bounce back from narrow loss to Texas and put an end to the brief success of the Aggies.

Also—Arkansas 22 over Rice, Louisville 15 over Tulsa, New Mexico State six over West Texas State, Houston 18 over Memphis State and Colorado State four over Wichita State.

The Rockies
Arizona State 35 Brigham Young 24—Defense will be mere dream when the WAC's leaders meet.

Air Force 21 Oregon 18—Quick Falcon defense will stop Oregon's Bobby Moore and his cohorts.

New Mexico 27 Utah 14—Lobos are running wild after being trampled by Arizona State.

Utah State 17 Wyoming 14—Another tight victory for the surprising Utags.

Oregon State 21 Arizona 7—Dave Schilling and company will take it easy on questionable Wildcats.

The West
Washington 27 California 21—Sixkiller too much for Bear defense.

Stanford 35 UCLA 14—Indians conclude PAC-8 play with 5-1 record.

Washington State 27 USC 17—Cougars stay alive in run for roses.

New Rochelle Catches Kingston on Rebound

By IRA FUSFELD
KINGSTON quickly from what seemed to be a crisis. It didn't take too long for the big letdown of losing to Amsterdam to reverse itself and thus Kingston High School's football team is now eagerly getting ready for Saturday's game at New Rochelle.

SPECIAL KIND — Robert Newhouse, University Houston's powerful fullback, is a real problem for the Cougars' equipment manager. Newhouse, who gained more than 100 yards rushing in eight games, ruined a pair of shoes each time he played. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

"They're alright," reported Maroon Coach Tony Badalato after the squad held its first practice since their only defeat of the season earlier this week. "It was just the initial shock of the loss that had affected them. The big balloon had burst."

But that's all by the boards now. So Kingston must look to end the season in fine fashion. And it won't be easy, what with New Rochelle upcoming and then big, bad Newburgh after that.

"I didn't want to say it before the Amsterdam game," Badalato remarked, "but I've felt all along that Newburgh would be the toughest game and New Rochelle the next toughest."

Neither team has a winning record—the Goldbacks are 3-3 and New Rochelle is 1-4—but Badalato says that's deceiving, especially in the Huguens case.

"New Rochelle has only played good teams this season. They've lost four, but they've all been close. And the one easy team they played, they beat bad."

Perhaps the top area expert on New Rochelle would be Rip Fornal, the Newburgh coach. His team beat the Huguens, 15-13 Saturday, but afterwards Fornal said, "This is the best New Rochelle team I've seen in five years. They were a lot stronger than we expected."

"New Rochelle has a good throwing quarterback (Bob Cosentino)," said Badalato, "and two good receivers (Rick Botner and Leon Byrd). But their defense is the standout."

The scores are probably the best indicators of the New Rochelle defensive story. The Huguens were beaten by Blessed Sacrament of New Rochelle, 20th in the small school poll, 6-2; they were blanked by Roosevelt of Yonkers, 6-0; they crushed Mt. Vernon, 27-0; and then prior to the Newburgh game, New Rochelle lost to White Plains, 12-7, and White Plains is rated fourth among the large schools.

So despite a 1-4 record, New Rochelle has scored 49 points and allowed 39.

The word out of Newburgh after the Goldbacks win over the Huguens was that New Rochelle's defense was near perfect against the run, and the offense centered around Cosentino's arm.

"We plan on opening up a little," predicted Badalato, "and throw a little more than we have been. But first we'll have to establish a running game."

New Rochelle's offense is second on the list of worries since Kingston's defense has allowed just one touchdown all season. And if the Huguens are indeed going to throw, the Maroons will be ready with their veteran pass-swipers Ralph and Jeff Longendyke, and Abe Robinson.

EXTRA POINTS — New Rochelle beat Kingston, 14-9, last season while the Maroons were going through a winless campaign and the Huguens were going 5-0. The career standing is New Rochelle seven wins and Kingston one (in 1968, 38-19). The game Saturday will be played in City Park Stadium, on the corner of 5th Ave. and City Park Rd., New Rochelle.

After viewing films of the Amsterdam game, Badalato now feels his decision to go for the first down instead of a field goal in the fourth quarter with KHS trailing 8-7 was the right one.

"The films don't lie. If I had to call it 100 times I'd have gone for the run," Badalato stated. "The play was supposed to go off tackle and someone missed an assignment and so it wound up going up the middle where it was stopped."

The Kingston coach pointed out that the off tackle play had been working all day and that he had worked again if not for that missed assignment.

UCCC Scores First Victory in X-Country

MIDDLETOWN A victory drought that spanned a two year period has ended at last for Ulster County Community College's cross-country team, as the Senators edged Rockland 27-28 at Watts Park on Tuesday.

The meet, which was run concurrently with the Mid-Hudson individual championships, featured a strong team effort by Ulster. Giving up the first two slots to Rockland, the UCCC crew, led by Pete Nekos, swept third through sixth places to gain the win.

Rich Hallahan clocked a 22:58 and was followed by teammate Frank Cifarelli, but Nekos, crossing the wire at 25:20, had company 16 seconds later from Tom DeSantis, Pat Harder at 25:37 and Walt Lloyd at 26:06. Bob Tomaszewski was the remaining Ulster scorer running in ninth position and displacing Rockland's Joe Barbera by almost two minutes.

Coach Ed Decker sounded more relieved than elated in describing the win, something which had become a rarity at the Stone Ridge campus.

"It was sort of a milestone," Decker said, "and that now makes us 1-3 in dual meet competition this year. Unofficially, we finished fourth out of five teams in the Mid Hudson meet."

Although the Mid-Hudson Conference championships is now run on an individual basis, it is likely that next year team standings will be included, according to Coach Decker. Orange County wound up far in front of the pack this year, followed by Dutchess, Rockland, Ulster and Westchester.

NO. ONE MAN — Dallas Cowboy Coach Tom Landry (L) Wednesday named former Heisman Trophy winner Roger Staubach (R) the Cowboys' No. 1 quarterback. The move by Landry ends the Cowboys' "two-quarterback" system with the team having a 4-3 record. Former starting quarterback Craig Morton will back up Staubach. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

The Decision Is Made... Staubach Over Morton

DALLAS (UPI)—Tom Landry has pitched the ball to Roger Staubach and told him, in effect, to "move it and the job (No. 1 quarterback of the Dallas Cowboys) is yours."

Landry Wednesday announced abandonment of his controversial two-quarterback system by picking third-year man Staubach — a man who "makes things happen" — over seven-year veteran Craig Morton, starting next Sunday in St. Louis against the Cardinals.

Landry made it clear he was not going to explain the "whys and hows" of his decision and refused to be pinned down hard on the future. But, he explained that this way:

"When you make a choice, you feel he's the one to do it ... but he has to do it. Who knows what will happen?"

"I feel we had reached the point to make a choice and we're going to go with Staubach. I think it is Roger's time to make a move. I feel he can do it."

"I have very much confidence in both quarterbacks ... they are the best part of our team ... and Craig will be ready to play if he's needed."

"If I didn't think we could win this way, I wouldn't have made the decision."

"Roger is going to be learning every time he steps on the field. He has great confidence in himself. He makes things happen."

"I'm convinced this is the way to go. I was convinced the two-quarterback system was, too. But, it just didn't work out because we didn't do too well in other places."

Landry was referring, he said, to "our one great weakness — the kicking game." Fumbles, penalties, allowing long runbacks and failure to get and/or keep field position.

The coach said the Cowboys now were starting and ending each practice with kicking drills, said that changes were being made in the personnel of these teams and added that more were anticipated.

He said he activated Austrian soccer style kicker Toni Fritsch and taxed regular kicker Mike Clark — who missed three field goals in last Sunday's 23-19 loss to Chicago — because "I felt it necessary at this point."

Landry said he didn't think his decision to go with Staubach was "comparable" to 1965 when he designated Don Meredith over rookies Morton and Jerry Rhyme. "The situation was different, then," he said.

Neither did he think it was comparable to a year ago when he stuck with a crippled Morton instead of going with Staubach when the team turned a 5-4 season around and marched to the Super Bowl.

"I think a change is necessary ... I didn't feel that last year, but I do now. It's a big decision, not a small one. I'm looking for now ... Sunday. We're not out of this thing (the National Conference East race) by any measure. It can turn around very easily."

Then, the coach added:

"It's not much fun to make the decisions I've made the last couple of days. You develop a feeling for these guys (Morton, Clark).

State Quiz: 'Who's in Goal?'

By IRA FUSFELD

NEW PALTZ

This has been a long season for New Paltz State soccer coach Bob Durkin what with injuries, ineligibilities, and the like hurting his team's on-field performance.

But if there was one position that appeared deep before the schedule began it was goaltender. Durkin found out otherwise Wednesday as the University of Bridgeport handed New Paltz a 7-1 defeat.

Back in September New Paltz had three fine goalies on the roster. There was Bob Sanborn, last year's No. 1 man, Jamie Lipman, his capable alternate, and Benny Alberto, a junior college transfer.

Lipman was the first to be sidelined as he suffered a double setback: broken fingers on one hand, and a fractured wrist on the other. That still left two netminders to share the duties.

Sanborn, however, is in his pre-student teaching phase at the college and his presence in the nets hinges on his academic schedule. So when Bob couldn't make it one day, Alberto played and stole the No. 1 job.

Benny has since recorded five shutouts, and Sanborn was moved to a substitute forward position. Still, Bob would always be around if something happened to Alberto. Or so it seemed.

When the Hawks arrived at their Elting Gym locker room before the Bridgeport game Alberto notified Durkin that he was sick and couldn't suit up. Sanborn had not reported and was presumably tied up in class. And Lipman still had the broken fingers, although the cast had just been removed from his wrist.

Thus the New Paltz Hawks, who started the season three-deep in the goal, were forced to face powerful Bridgeport with the junior varsity regular, Rich Malke, in the nets.

New Paltz managed to keep

Bridgeport off the scoreboard for better than half of the first quarter. Then at 13:48, Marbue Richards came down the right wing and moved, untouched, in on Malke. When the inexperienced goalie failed to come out and meet him, Richards fired a shot into the short side and it was 1-0.

Francis Emmanuel made it two-zip at 8:17 of the second on a fine pass that left him all alone in front — many thought he was offside — and Malke didn't have a chance with his bullet. Emmanuel again scored at 12:49 when he penetrated the Hawk defense and boomed one into the cage past a slow-reacting Malke.

By this time Durkin had seen enough. Into the game went Lipman, broken fingers, mending wrist and all.

Bridgeport scored the rest of its goals against the sub, but Lipman sparked several times on Knight rushes and managed to keep the margin down.

Emmanuel completed the hat trick at 16:28 and was later followed into the scorebook by Kevin Welsh (twice) and Frank Longobucco.

The Hawks averted a shutout with 19:18 gone in the final period when Jacques Mesias hit the upper right corner from some 35 yards out.

"They're a good club and they came to play," said Durkin, who is fast becoming the Weeb Ewbank of college soccer. "I thought we'd do better, but the new man in goal hurt us psychologically. We're a better club than this."

Bridgeport owned the statistics on the muddy New Paltz turf, outshooting the Hawks, 30-11.

And if you think it was a long day for the varsity, take note that the JV's lost to Orange Community, 15-0.

Bared-Faced Philly On Winning Streak

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — If your boss came in one day and said, cut off your mustache, that's an order, would it improve your work?

Coach Ed Khayat of the Philadelphia Eagles gave the order to his team two weeks ago. There was grumbling, but off came the mustaches.

The Eagles had lost their first five games of the National Football League season, two under Khayat, who succeeded Jerry Williams as boss after the third game. Minus the hair on their lips the Eagles won the next two games.

Did the mass mustache shaving—22 Eagles had to run for the razors—make the difference?

Ed Khayat laughed at the question. A former player on the champion Eagles of 1960, he knew his players didn't run, pass, block or tackle with their lips.

He made no bones about the reason for the victories—seven recovered fumbles, three pass interceptions, a blocked kick that became a touchdown, guards who pulled out and knocked down a few people.

The coach explained his thinking behind the shave-it-off edict.

"Good grooming is one of the many facets of discipline," he said, repeating what he said at the time of the order.

Khayat said he disliked shaving but did it every day.

The players were unhappy with the loss of their mustaches. Tim Rossovich, the middle linebacker, was the most vociferous objector. He's not yet ready to forgive and forget. He says he feels like he's in the Army. All he wants is for the coach to tell him how to win.

Quarterback Pete Liske takes a realistic approach to the two-game winning streak.

"I think our winning comes down to playing the caliber of teams we're playing now," Liske said. "We were successful in preseason playing the caliber of teams we should beat, and we've been successful against that caliber of team again."

The Eagles posted a 4-2 preseason record, defeating the New York Giants, New Orleans Saints, Buffalo Bills and Oakland Raiders, while losing to Houston and Detroit. Oakland was the only team of strength defeated and that was an opening exhibition game in which the Raiders experimented. In regular season it was Oakland 31-10.

The two victories since the mustaches came off were against the Giants and Denver Broncos, not exactly the elite of the NFL. The theory that Khayat made his players angry by the mustache ploy, and that psychologically they became a better team gets an acid test Sunday against the tough Washington Redskins (6-1). If the Eagles upset the Skins that would be a hairy one.

Top Memorex Officers Call for IBM Commission

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two top officers of the Memorex Corp. Wednesday said such a study could assist the Justice Department in its antitrust suit against IBM. They claimed the private corporation's resources have overpowered the federal government's "beleaguered" antitrust division.

D. James Guzy, executive vice president of Memorex, told a news conference: "Restoration of a competitive structure in the computer industry is an imperative of national public policy."

Guzy made his statement with Laurence L. Spitters, president of Memorex.

Commenting on the allegations, a spokesman for IBM said: "While we believe there is no truth to them, we also believe the proper place to discuss them is in the court...this is particularly true because the suit brought by IBM against Memorex for misappropriation of trade secrets is currently in litigation."

A spokesman for the Justice Department denied the Memorex executives' claim that the government has been outmaneuvered by IBM's legal staff.

Of IBM, which controls about 70 per cent of the nation's computer market, Guzy said: "There is no strategy, no superior logic that will enable any company in this business, to compete. If IBM so chooses, they shall not compete."

Hotel Charge on Phone Calls Now Banned

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Hotels, motels and other establishments no longer will be permitted to charge extra for certain telephone calls, under terms of a service change approved by the Public Service Commission.

The change, which applies to telephones served by the New York Telephone Co., ends the authority of hotels, motels, apartment houses, clubs and hospitals to charge an extra dime for collect calls, calls made on a credit card and calls to be billed to a third number.

The change took effect Monday.

Ulster School Boards Elect New Officers

ROSENDALE — Officers were elected at the reorganizational meeting of the Ulster County School Boards Association Wednesday night at Williams Lake Hotel.

Harry Cornwell of the New Paltz School Board was re-elected president, and Thomas Reynolds of the Kingston Schools Consolidated Board, vice president. Mrs. Ann Coler of Rondout Valley was named secretary-treasurer, and Frank Hamilton, business manager of the New Paltz Schools, was named executive secretary-treasurer, assisting the president.

Ben Miller, of Ellenville, recently elected president of the New York State School Boards Association, explained assistance available to individual districts from the state organization. He also discussed the necessity for change in the structure for financing schools and the trends toward change in teaching curriculum.

Also under discussion at the meeting were aspects of the Taylor Law and teacher negotiations.

Stalemate Continues In Hudson Strike

HUDSON, N.Y. (AP) — A school board has filed a complaint with the State Public Employment Relations Board alleging "improper practices" by the teachers and the New York State Teachers Association. He said the complaint stems from the HTA's refusal, in the board's view, to bargain in good faith.

About half the district's 300 teachers reported for work Wednesday at the seven schools in the system, a school official said. There are about 3,000 students in the district.

At the core of the dispute is a demand by the HTA for a binding arbitration clause in teachers' contracts.

Donaghue also said that the

Hurley Officials Review '72 Budget

Town of Hurley officials reviewed their tentative 1972 budget before four taxpayers Wednesday night, and noted that some areas will definitely be reduced before the budget is adopted in its final form.

According to Supervisor George Schroeder, the tentative 1972 budget totals $330,992.05, which is $14,899.08 higher than last year's Hurley budget.

The Hurley Town Board will meet in executive session on November 17, at which time they will trim the budget wherever possible. The budget will be approved in its final form that night, said Schroeder.

"There are definitely some areas that can be eliminated to reduce taxes," said Schroeder. The 1972 Hurley budget will not contain any salary increases. "No elected official has asked for, or will receive, a salary raise next year," said Schroeder.

He further noted that the salary for the Highway Superintendent has been reduced, keeping it more in line with the salaries of Highway Superintendents in neighboring townships. Salaries for Highway Department employees will remain the same as in 1971.

There are several major reasons for the budget increase, explained Schroeder, including a cutback in state revenues. He noted that the town had expected to receive $74,503 from the state this year but received, instead, only $67,440. So the town is anticipating the same amount for next year.

The hiring of a full-time assessor, and operating expenses for the assessment Board of Review, also added to the budget total.

Driver Hurt In Car Crash

WOODSTOCK — A two-car collision at Route 375 and Maverick Road, this township, at 6:25 p.m. Wednesday, resulted in injuries to one of the drivers.

Town police reported the vehicles involved were operated by Bonnie Nielson, of 7 Cardinal Drive, and Patricia MacFadden of 7 Maverick Terrace, both of Woodstock.

Mrs. Nielson was taken to Kingston Hospital by Doctor's Ambulance. She reportedly sustained injuries to the neck and head and cuts and bruises.

Your Horoscope

Friday, November 5

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A very interesting day for you to start a new set of conditions in operation that have to do with outlets requiring considerable scope to them and for adding charm, beauty, color and culture to them so they are more pleasant and valuable as well. Express your school of philosophy in a down-to-earth manner.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Stick to theory when handling partnership matters since associates are watching you closely. You find you have big opportunity through discussion with others. Don't let them slip through your fingers.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) An intelligent discussion with mate shows how to get business affairs handled more wisely and well. A new project can be started with success following. Figure well the cost of supplies.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) A good day to plan what pleasures you want the most in the future and plan for them, eliminating those that are not good for you. Consider the cost well. Make your business affairs run more smoothly.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) A businesslike talk with kin will bring just the right results so that your lives run more smoothly and successfully. Use that smile more and avoid arguments. Take it easy in the evening.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Instead of criticizing an attachment, listen carefully to what is being suggested instead and cooperate with him or her. Renew friendship with one who is out of the country or state via a conciliatory letter.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You can get out of that financial bind if you do very precise work and earn greater profits. Add whatever beauty and comfort you can to your home and improve its value. Show that you have good taste.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You are confused about just what to do today, so consult with ally who has his feet on the ground and you get right ideas. Trust your advisor where some big business deal is concerned. Take it easy at home in the evening.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Look into new outlets that could mean greater benefits and know what new associates would expect of you in them. You have to prepare very carefully if you want big success. The evening is fine for music and fun.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Get good ideas from a social leader on how to make your own life more charming and interesting, your appearance more attractive, also. A group affair in the evening would be very rewarding.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Carry through with research work for data you need now that you have the backing from bigwig you have long wanted. Get into that civic outlet that opens new path of opportunity for you. Show that you have tact.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) An ideal day to join with good pals who can introduce you to other persons who are interesting and worthwhile. Show more interest in different philosophies, trends, ideas to your own. Learn.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You have very good intuitive perception today that can be very helpful to you in both business and personal dealings.

to follow them. Mate will listen to your ideas readily at this time. Much progress is possible. IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those easygoing, likeable people who likes to mix with others and gets along with everyone. Be sure you give as fine an opportunity for study as possible so that these fine qualities will be used in right directions and a very successful life will be lived. There is much creativity here and the fine writer, public worker, top salesperson is found in this chart, as well as the actor, actress who is a boon to society. ## Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

ALL NIGHT: (Q) I am not myself. I am becoming a total wreck. I have gotten drunk twice. It's because of Carl. He is 21, and getting a divorce. I am 15 and I love him. He dated me three or four times, then he told me we were getting too close and had to break up. He told me he liked me more than any other girl but it had to stop.

Well, a couple of weeks went by and I felt awful. Finally, on Sunday, we ran into each other and went to the drive-in with a bunch of kids. The other kids went home, but Carl and I spent the night in the car.

He fell asleep and I watched him. He woke up and put his head in my lap and went to sleep again. W didn't do anything sexual. We never have.

He took me home before my parents woke up and said we must never go out together again. I can't stand it. Please help me.—A Wreck in Wisconsin

(A) Carl is old enough and wise enough to see that you two were headed for trouble. He was sensible enough to stop it. It was a hard thing for him to do. Do not make it harder for him.

Do not get him into trouble. You could, you know. You are a minor and he is an adult. If you really love him, let him go. Time will help you to forget him.

NOT A BABY: (Q) I am 11 and my mother still makes me go to a baby doctor. I feel foolish sitting in the waiting room with infants and small children. Besides, I'm developing into a young woman. What can I do to make her see?—Filling Out in Massachusetts

(A) The doctor you go to is a pediatrician. The pediatrician to whom I take my children has a separate teen room and sees children of all ages. The older children wait in the teen room, the younger ones wait in the regular waiting room.

Perhaps you could mention this idea to your doctor the next time you visit him.

You are fortunate to be able to see a doctor who specializes in the diseases and care of children and younger people and who probably is familiar with your health background since birth. Few young people are this fortunate.

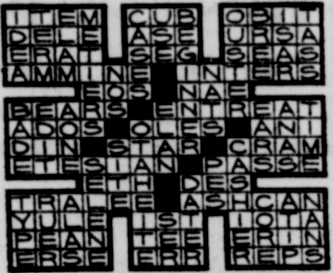

If the situation continues to disturb you, however, try again to talk it out with your mother.

Ex-Johnson Aid to Host Show

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Moyers, who was presidential press secretary for Lyndon B. Johnson, is host on a weekly educational television network discussion program, "This Week." His toughest assignment of the season was presiding Wednesday night over a critical analysis of his former boss' book, "The Vantage Point: Perspectives of the Presidency, 1963-1969."

Moyers, who probably knows more about Johnson than any of the three White House correspondents discussing the author and his book—often in complimentary terms—restrained himself in his interrogator's role.

He smoothly continued to question his guests after swallowing some tart observations. James Deakin, for instance, described the volume about Johnson's tenure as "not as Lyndon Johnson saw it but as he wishes us to see it."

William Lawrence, a veteran White House reporter, accused the former president of occasionally "shaving the truth." While Moyers injected a few sharp questions, only his tone of voice indicated he was on the defensive.

Consensus of the three guests seemed to be that the book reflected little of the "vital, tempestuous man" as one of them described the Johnson they had known and for whom they felt mixed emotions.

The program was hardly typical of the series. A man of opinions and perception, Moyers usually participates more actively in the discussions. It is an interesting, worthy series but a bit ragged in spots.

ABC's "The Smith Family," Henry Fonda's TV vehicle which is certainly making no waves, looked brighter this week with an action show and none of that cozy family stuff for a change.

Word was around earlier that the series would shift emphasis this season to cops-and-robbers stuff, but to date this type of treatment has been the exception.

Dick Cavett, ABC's late night talk show host, has won a year's renewal of his network contract. It will take him through 1972. In recent weeks, Cavett and CBS's Merv Griffin have been slugging it out toe-to-toe in the ratings for second place.

It is widely anticipated that Cavett will not have his arch rival around for long since Griffin has indicated he wants out of his current spot by year's end.

Johnny Carson and his "Tonight Show" on NBC remain a lap ahead of the field.

PREDICTS FOREIGN AID — U. S. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, talking to newsmen on arrival in Saigon, South Vietnam, Wednesday, predicts Congress will restore foreign aid cuts because the U. S. must show strength and not weakness during President Nixon's forthcoming visit to Peking. Laird is here to make final inspection and report to Nixon on Vietnamization and withdrawal of U. S. troops. At left is General Creighton W. Abrams, commander, U. S. Forces in Vietnam, and U. S. Ambassador to Saigon, Ellsworth Bunker. (UPI PHOTO).

U.S. Levels New Charges

PARIS (AP) — The United States accused North Vietnam today of sharply curtailing the number of letters American prisoners have been allowed to write to their families in the past six months.

U. S. negotiator William J. Porter told the 135th weekly session of the Vietnam peace talks that the number of letters from prisoners had been cut by more than 85 per cent since last year, and fewer than 50 of the acknowledged 339 prisoners in North Vietnam have been allowed to write.

He said the 339 prisoners were allowed to send 1,300 letters in the six months from May to October of last year. In the same period this year, only 170 letters have been received by the families, Porter said.

"North Vietnamese officials have said all prisoners may write monthly," he continued. "By this standard, the acknowledged 339 prisoners in North Vietnam should have sent over 2,000 letters in these half-year periods.

Meanwhile, U. S. helicopter gunships wiped out a North Vietnamese truck depot in the northern quarter of South Vietnam, destroying all 10 vehicles and killing 11 enemy soldiers, the U. S. Command announced today.

The attack on the truck depot was the biggest action reported as Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird conferred with Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and Gen. Creighton W. Abrams on further American troop cutbacks, economic aid to South Vietnam and the pacification program.

A spokesman for the U. S. Command, Maj. Richard Gardner, said American pilots spotted the truck depot between the Laotian border and the A Shau valley, a key transshipment point for supplies coming off the Ho Chi Minh trail.

Gardner said the 2½-ton trucks were spotted off the road, but the action reports did not indicate whether they were loaded. There were no reports of secondary explosions, which would indicate hits on ammunition or fuel, he added.

Viet Death Total... Lowest Since '65

SAIGON (AP) — The U. S. Command's weekly casualty summary today said only two Americans were reported killed in action last week in Vietnam, the lowest total since March 1965.

But a spokesman for the command acknowledged that there were four more combat deaths last Saturday. He said apparently they were not included in the summary because of a delay in the military reporting system.

The spokesman, Maj. Richard Gardner, pointed out that the four deaths—three in a helicopter that was shot down and one in a ground action—took place on the last day of the week. Presumably they "didn't get into the reporting system" in time, he said.

Gardner indicated they would be added on to this week's casualties, which will be announced next Thursday.

U. S. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird had announced on his arrival in Saigon Wednesday night that the total of American battlefield deaths last week was the lowest since the United States assumed a combat role in Vietnam in March 1965. Apparently no one warned him about the vagaries of the reporting system.

The U. S. Command also announced that 63 Americans were wounded in action last week, 21 fewer than the week before. Another 19 died from accidents or illness, the Command said, 13 less than the total of deaths from nonhostile causes in the previous week.

Fewer South Vietnamese and enemy casualties also were reported last week.

South Vietnamese headquarters said 269 government troops were killed and 562 were wounded, compared with 394 killed and 700 wounded a week earlier.

The two allied commands claimed 1,058 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed last week, compared with 1,284 the week before.

The allied commands now have reported these total casualties for the war:

American—45,586 killed in action, 302,167 wounded, 9,879 dead from nonhostile causes.

South Vietnamese—135,279 killed, 293,177 wounded.

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong—780,632 killed.

The Ecologist!

He's probably one of the most important people in your community. Paper and paper products make up nearly 50% of most municipal refuse volumes, and recycling goes a long way to control those mountains of solid waste from growing. Without markets for recovered paper, however, salvage programs can't get started. That's why we're proud to be doing our part, to be purchasing newsprint made entirely from recycled newspaper.
